What an asset a Morris van would be to your business! Primarily, it would get your goods home to your customers in lightning time. This kind of thing builds up trade. And it lowers overhead expenses, too. But a Morris van would also be a constant, free advertisement of your name—of your goods.

IT PAYS TO RUN A MORRIS VAN

The Morris 5 cwt. Van is remarkably light on petrol. It has a low-tax engine, and its purchase price is only £136 10s. (plus freight). Inside body height: 3' 6". Width: 3' 4½". Length behind driver's seat: 3' 4".

At £198 (plus freight) the Morris Light Van has a cubic capacity of 78 feet. Body width: 4' 0". Length: 4' 9". Height: 4' 3". The 14.32 h.p. engine provides rapid acceleration. Both these vans are uncommonly smart.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES

TONE AND COMMENT

DUBLIN IRREGULAR.

BANK STOCK STRONG.

The new account brought very little accession of business to Dublin Stock Market yesterday. Many securities were marked ex-dividend. The trend of price movements was irregular. Free State Funds and Land Bonds were all firm and unchanged, and War Loan Fives were unchanged. India 3½ per cent. fell away to 65.

The Banking section was strong. Bank Stock rose 3½ to 310, and Nationals moved up to 46s. 6d. Rails were neglected.

Guinness units were an active spot at slightly lower prices, and the close was threepence down at 79s. 6d. Cables "B" gained the turn at 10¼, and Alliance Gas marked 10 1/16 x.d.

The Industrial market was dull and generally weak. Coats, Bleachers, Courtaulds, Chemicals and Unilevers, as well as the Oil issues quoted, were all easier. The Lever Pref. issues also lost ground. The only rise was in Calico 5 per cent. Pref.

Among local securities, Brooks, Thomas Ord. rose sharply, and Irish-American Oil Pref. recovered a portion of the dividend deduction at 22s. 6d.

Swedish Match "B" fell over 10s. from Saturday's price to 15s. 4½d. on the rumour from Stockholm that its securities may be involved by mortgage in the Kreuger and Toll crash.

LONDON DULL.

BRITISH FUNDS RALLY.

The new account opened quietly on the London Stock Markets yesterday, and dull conditions pervaded practically every department in the early hours. In the afternoon some recovery was apparent, but in a number of directions prices continued to tend against holders, and the list of price movements shown at the close presented a very uneven appearance. Swedish Match "B" shares were an exceptionally dull market, there being fresh selling on adverse rumours current regarding the position of the company's assets, and the shares dipped to below 13s. 6d. at one time, but rallied smartly later on bear covering. Other dull features were provided by Tate and Lyle's, Ford Motors and United Molasses, the last-named declining sharply following the heavy loss disclosed in the 1931 accounts. A dull tone prevailed in the gilt-edged section at first, and values went back, but in the afternoon a strong recovery occurred on good investment buying, and in most instances the early losses were more than made good. Dull conditions prevailed in all directions among Foreign Government stocks, and, apart from French loans, movements were all adverse to holders. British Rails made a weak commencement, and, although strengthening in the latter dealings, still showed more or less substantial depreciations all round, the Pref. issues being the worst sufferers. There was not a great deal going on among Colonial and Foreign Rails, but a dull tone ruled, and quotations moved back further in a number of instances. American Rails were rather severely handled, and some sharp recessions were registered. Interest remained on a somewhat restricted scale among the Industrial descriptions, and for the most part values went against holders. The Trans-Atlantic issues, however, hardened after an irregular opening. Textiles were depressed, and Tobaccos weakened, while Shipping issues showed an irregular front. Iron, Coal and Steels were another dull market, and Cables and Wireless lost ground, and the majority of the Miscellaneous Industrials went off. In other directions Oils developed a firmer tendency in the afternoon, but Mines were quiet and uncertain, though steadier at the close.

THE INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

FALL IN UNITED MOLASSES.

Business for new account in the Industrial Market started under adverse conditions. Fears of further liquidation from the Continental centres caused a general marking down of prices at the opening, and, although a somewhat steadier tone developed towards the close, declines predominated. A feature of weakness was again provided by Swedish Match, following rumours that part of the company's big holdings in the International Match Corporation has been mortgaged. Most of the selling emanated from the Continent. It is hoped that the Swedish Investigation Committee will make a statement on the position later this week.

The general rate at the carry-over was 4½ to 5¼ per cent. A "bear" account was disclosed in Dunlops and Pinchin Johnson, which were done on the basis of "evens" to 2 per cent.

After a moderate rally the trans-Atlantic favourites finished on the dull side. Brazilian Tractions improved to 13½, at one time being offered in late dealings at 13⅜. "Emmies" lacked supporters, the final quotation of 16s. leaving them 9d. lower.

Cables and Wireless stocks were rather uncertain in their movements, but showed little change on balance.

Renewed weakness developed in Ford Motors, the price falling 1s. 9d. to 21s. 9d. Thomas Tillings were steady around 54s. 9d. ex div.

A feature in the Food and Catering section was renewed weakness in Tate and Lyles. Fears regarding the effect of the fall in sugar values on the earning capacity of the company was responsible for considerable selling on provincial account, and the shares changed hands down to 39s. before closing with a loss of 1s. 6d. at 40s. J. Lyons Ord. hardened to 4 11/16, as did International Teas to 24s. 9d. and the Unilever Twins to 1 1/16.

A little support was forthcoming from the North at the opening for Textiles, but later an easier tendency developed. Bleachers dwindled to 12s. 3d., Calico Printers to 8s. 6d., Fine Spinners to 15s. 6d., and Listers to 14s. 9d., while J. and P. Coats eventually finished at 40s. 6d., after touching 4 1/16.

Rayons moved in uncertain fashion. Courtaulds gained a few pence at 32s. 7½d., but American Celanese declined to 11/16, and British Canadian Celanese to 1 1/16, and British Celanese Ordinary were offered at 7s. 6d.

The Tobacco leaders reflected the general uncertainty. Carreras "A" shed 1/16 at 3⅜, with the "B" a few pence easier at 9s. "Bats" lost the turn at 3 11/16, and "Imps" at 3 11/16.

Irregular movements characterised the Brewery section. Allsopps hardened to 21s. 9d., Distillers to 46s. 9d., and Watney Deferred to 42s. 9d., but Guinness, Meuxs, Ohlssons and Peter Walker all lost ground.

Following the publication of the 1931 results United Molasses opened heavy, and with some appreciable selling orders coming forward were dealt in down to 6s. 3d., before rallying to 6s. 10½d., the latter level leaving them 10½d. lower on the day. The Preference changed hands down to 8s. With week-end news from Stockholm emphasising the obscurity surrounding the Kreuger position, it was not surprising that Swedish Match "B" continued to encounter appreciable selling orders, and they dipped to 13s. 9d. at one time and closed 7s. 6d. down on balance at 16s. 3d. The Kreuger issues showed little variation at the close, but Separators were levelled to 2 on the results. British Match weakened 1s. to 22s. 9d.

Moderate declines took place in Turner and Newalls, Triplex, Wall Paper Deferred, Spillers, Dunlops and Chemicals.

OIL SHARES QUIET.

Transactions in Oil Shares were on only a moderate scale yesterday, the new account opening in quiet fashion. In the early hours dealings were conducted with considerable caution, while fears that French operators might come in sellers of international counters led to a lowering of prices. Contrary to expectations, however, buying orders came to hand from Paris. As a result, initial losses were made good, and the market closed with a steady appearance, price changes being of little importance.

RUBBER SHARES NEGLECTED.

Trading in the Rubber Share Market remained on an exceptionally modest scale and values were depressed still further. Actual share price movements, however, were few and far between, though those recorded were of an adverse character. Steady conditions prevailed in the raw material market. Spot, also April and May, sold from 1⅞d. to 1 15/16d. per pound, while July to September fetched 2d. per lb., and October to December 2⅛d. per pound. London stocks of raw material were reduced by 648 tons at 63,813 tons, this figure comparing with 84,330 tons at this time last year, but Liverpool stocks were raised by 235 tons to 61,010 tons, against 49,502 tons last year.

LONDON MINING MARKET SLOW.

KAFFIRS SUPPORTED.

The opening of a new account brought little relief from the quiet conditions which have prevailed in the Mining Market during the past two weeks.

Prices of the Paris favourites moved upward in a number of cases, but the volume of business was not sufficient to sustain interest, and during the afternoon idleness was prevalent in all sections.

A firm tone was noticeable in the Kaffir department, but trading remained very restricted, despite the generally satisfactory nature of the March returns. Actual price movements were few, but they were usually in the upward direction.

Paris came in a small buyer of De Beers issues, but only the Preference responded. Scarcely any attention was paid to the Rhodesians. The price of copper finished the turn higher at £30 6s. 3d. per ton. The Northern Rhodesians were seldom mentioned, and no changes were made. Tintos advanced 10s. under French influences. Tin fell to £108 15s. per ton, and the share market was dull. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET

LOAN AND DISCOUNT RATES FIRMER.

Because of heavier payments for Treasury bills money was in fair demand yesterday, and borrowers paid from 1½ up to 2¼ per cent. for loans until to-day. Old day-to-day money was generally renewed at 2 per cent.

The discount market was firm in tone with 2¼ to 2 5/16 per cent. quoted for fine three months' bank bills. The hot Treasuries were offered at 2 3/16 to 2¼ per cent.

Silver declined ⅛d. for spot and 3/16d. for forward delivery, to 17 7/16d. per ounce for both positions. China was a seller, while the Continent sent some support. Gold was quoted 1s. higher at 109s. 11d. per ounce fine. About £120,000 was in the market and was taken by the unknown buyer.

In the Foreign Exchange market yesterday sterling in terms of the principal gold currencies more than recovered Saturday's setback. The bulk of the improvement was recorded late in the day after the opening of New York. Sterling on New York finished at 3.80 as compared with 3.75. Canadian dollars cheapened 3½c. to 4.21½. Francs finished at 96 11/16, a net depreciation on the day of 11/16. Swiss francs cheapened by 17½c. to 19.50, and Reichsmarks by 1/16 mk. to 16.00, while the Belgian rate closed at 27.10, as against 26 15/16 on Saturday morning. The Dutch rate rose by 7c. to 9.37½. Both the Italian and Spanish exchanges showed some considerable movement in favour of London, the former rising by ⅞ lira to 73⅞ and the latter to 50¼. The Swedish and Norwegian rates were both higher on balance, the former closing at 18 7/16 and the latter at 19 1/16. Japanese yen were slightly cheaper at 21½.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

THE RISE IN WHEAT.

Business in wheat has been on a small scale. In Chicago prices have had a firmer appearance, with the abatement of fears over the Farm Board's policy. May futures, which closed at 51½ cents on Thursday, March 24, rose during the week to 54 cents, but on Friday last had receded to 53⅞ cents per bushel. On Saturday, however, there was a sharp rise to 55⅞ cents. In continental countries home-grown supplies are becoming very short, and it is expected that France, Italy and Germany will be large buyers before very long. The French milling quota has again been raised from 35 to 40 per cent.

COMING EVENTS.

The following are among the principal group of company statements expected within the next week or two:—

Insurance Company results.
Unilever Group results.
Rio Tinto accounts.
International Holdings and Investment figures.
Anchor Line report.
Highland Distilleries interim decision.
Birrell, Ltd., interim decision.
Argentine Railway interim decisions.
Plantation Company results.

Among a large number of plantation statements awaited those of the Jugra Land, Selangor, Sungei Way, Trolak and Scottish Tea and Lands of Ceylon will claim some attention.

SWEDISH MATCH RUMOURS.

The Commission investigating the position of the Kreuger and Toll group of companies states that nothing can be said at the moment in regard to either the Swedish Match Company or the L.M. Ericsson Telephone Company, but it hopes that it may be possible to issue a communiqué this week. In Stockholm financial circles there seems to be considerable doubt as to the reasons for the drop in Match shares last week, although it is thought that the cause may be found in rumours to the effect that at least part of the Swedish Match Company's big holdings of shares in the International Match Corporation have been mortgaged. The Swedish Match Company has decided to reduce the working period in the Swedish factories from five to four days a week as from April 15. This measure is considered necessary in order to prevent any undue increase of stocks owing to the present restriction of trade. Holders of 50,000 Kreuger and Toll Participating Debentures met in Malmo over the week-end and appointed a committee to enter into communication with other Debenture-holders in Stockholm and Gothenburg, with a view to forming a union of Debenture-holders to prevent hasty realisations of the assets of the Kreuger concern, which they think will appreciate in value when the general disquiet has died down.

B.F.C. TO GO INTO LIQUIDATION.

An extraordinary general meeting of the British, Foreign and Colonial Corporation, Ltd., was held yesterday in London, at which a resolution was unanimously passed for the voluntary liquidation of the company, and the appointment of Sir Gilbert Garnsey as liquidator. Mr. F. A. Szarvasy, who presided, said that for the last two-and-a-half years there had been complete stagnation of the industrial issues, such as they had handled, and the prospect of revival in the near future was none too bright. With regard to the holding of 300,000 Gaumont shares the company had suffered a very heavy loss by holding those shares, but at the same time the Gaumont British Company had made satisfactory progress. Provided the resolution for voluntary liquidation was passed, he would suggest to the liquidator that those Gaumont shares should be distributed to the B.F.C. shareholders in the ratio of approximately one for every seven B.F.C. shares held. His advice to the shareholders would be to hold those shares until they got at least double the price at which they were quoted to-day.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

ASSOCIATED PORTLAND CEMENT MANUFACTURERS.—The report of the directors for the year ended 31st December, 1931, states:—The revenue for the year amounts to £1,024,712, which compares with £955,150 for the previous year, an increase of £69,562. It includes the profit as from the 1st July, 1931, of the undertakings acquired after deduction of the interest payable to the vendors from that date to the completion of the purchases. After providing for all charges, including the annual instalments required for the redemption of the various debenture stocks amounting to £115,505, the sum of £300,000 for a general depreciation, and £12,150 for barge depreciation, etc., the balance of profit for the year is £399,963, of which the dividend on the Preference shares for the year absorbs £137,500. The directors recommend the payment of a dividend of 8 per cent. on the 3,000,000 Ordinary shares issued prior to August, 1931, and 4 per cent. on the 500,000 Ordinary shares issued in August last, leaving a balance of £2,463 to be added to the amount carried forward, which will then stand at £163,427.

A.B.C. COUPLER AND ENGINEERING. — No dividend at present on the 7½ per cent. Cumulative Preference for the half-year ended March 31.

BALKIS.—Interim dividend of 2½ per cent., less tax, on Ordinary. (Same.)

BURNLEY PAPER WORKS.—Interim Ordinary 1¼ per cent actual, tax free. (Same.)

E. ROBINSON AND SONS (STOCKPORT).—Final Ordinary 5 per cent., making 10 per cent. and bonus 1/3 per share, and bonus 3d. per share on Preference. (Same.)

KRAMAT TIN DREDGING.—Interim dividend of 6d. per share in respect of the year ending 31st January, 1933.

KEAN AND SCOTT.—Dividend of 3 per cent. on the Ordinary, against 7½ per cent.

HENRY TOMLINSON.—Final dividend of 1/- per share on the Ordinary Shares, making 7½ per cent. for the year, less tax (7½ per cent., tax free). Forward, £5,136.

MEYER AND CHARLTON.—During 1931 the working expenditure amounted to £186,886, leaving a profit on mining of £20,982. Total profit at £37,906 shows an improvement of £6,625 in comparison with last year's return.

TRADE INDEMNITY CO.—The directors do not consider the recommendation of a dividend justified for the year ending 31st December, 1931. Last year 6 per cent.

WILLIAM BLYTHE AND CO. (MANCHESTER).—Final Ordinary 5 per cent., making 7 per cent., against 8 per cent.

WEST RAND CONSOLIDATED.—Total revenue for 1931, £1,267,393, and the working expenditure £984,879, the gross profit of £282,514 exceeding the 1930 figure by £25,683. From the profit the company's debt to the General Mining and Finance Corporation, Ltd., was extinguished.

COMPANY MEETING.

VICKERS LIMITED.

FINANCIAL STRENGTH SATISFACTORY.

The annual general meeting of Vickers Limited was held in London yesterday, General the Hon. Sir Herbert A. Lawrence, G.C.B. (the chairman), presiding.

The Chairman, in the course of his remarks, said:—The general world-trade depression and the reduction in armaments under the influence of public opinion have affected adversely your company's trading results. The net profit is £574,493, a reduction of £201,433 compared with 1930, and allows the payment of a dividend of 5 per cent. on the Ordinary Share capital, although no transfer to reserve fund is possible on this occasion. The principal alteration in the balance sheet is the reduction of £1,741,604 in cash and Government securities, which now stand at £4,119,764, as against £5,861,368 in 1930, and the increase in bills receivable from £119,832 to £1,612,738. The net decrease in liquid assets is £248,698. The total floating assets are £8,518,377, against £8,850,300 in 1930. As in previous years, each individual quoted investment is valued at the 31st December at cost or market value—whichever is the less—and, although a substantial depreciation occurred in the market quotation of gilt-edged securities, this book loss was more than covered by the profit made earlier in the year on the realisation of long-dated securities. With regard to Vickers-Armstrongs, during the past year the concentration of the company's products in the most efficient and best situated works has been completed. Erith has been permanently closed, and the company's works and shipyards are now concentrated at Barrow, Elswick, Walker-on-Tyne, Crayford and Dartford.

NOTABLE STATISTICS.

It is gratifying to note that in 1931 Vickers-Armstrongs headed the list of firms for horse power of machinery delivered, and only just missed first place in the total output of shipping tonnage. The past year has, indeed, been a deplorable one for the shipbuilding industry. For the three years preceding the war the average merchant tonnage under construction was 513 vessels of 1,815,241 tons. During 1931 the total orders placed for new merchant ships were 87 ships of 214,366 gross tons. As the total volume of world shipping is about 70,000,000 tons and the average life about 25 years, the replacement of obsolete ships to maintain this volume would require an annual world production of 2,800,000 tons, so that when trade conditions improve there is some hope that the British shipbuilding industry will regain part of its former prosperity.

ENGLISH STEEL CORPORATION.

Your directors have devoted much anxious thought to the position of the English Steel Corporation, and, after consultation, it was decided to reduce the capital of the company by writing off the losses and to modernise the works at Sheffield in order to secure greater efficiency and economy in production.

Vickers (Aviation), Ltd., which is entirely controlled by Vickers, Limited, acquired in 1929 the whole of the share capital of the Super-Marine Aviation Works, Ltd., and the financial return from this aviation group has again proved satisfactory. From the technical point of view, it is interesting to record that the seaplane which won the Schneider Trophy outright was built by the Super-Marine Company.

GENERAL OUTLOOK.

I mentioned last year how the trade of the world had been disorganised by the fact that the wholesale prices of primary commodities had fallen to a greater extent than the prices of manufactured goods, and during the past year there has been a further collapse in commodity prices, which now bear no relation to production costs.

With regard to the future prospects of your company, I have already indicated the position of our main activities, and without some general revival of trade, and particularly more orders for armaments and shipbuilding, the immediate outlook is not encouraging. Administrative expenditure has been reduced in every direction, and an all-round reduction in salaries has been made, but, unless the volume of orders required to keep our works occupied is available, it is impossible for the trading results to be satisfactory.

The most encouraging feature is that the financial position of your company continues on a sound basis, its liquid resources having been conserved so that they may be profitably employed when a period of trade prosperity returns.

The report was adopted.

"THAT SILLY OLD ACT."

COMMENT IN SWEEPSTAKE PROSECUTION.

Defending Mr. George Penter and Mr. William Henry Hine, who were accused at Plymouth, Devon, yesterday of selling Irish Sweepstake tickets, Mr. Mayburne Pearce, solicitor, referred to "that silly old Act."

"This prosecution," he said, "is brought under the Lottery Act of 1823, which was passed to legalise the raising of money by lotteries by King George the Fourth to prevent other people organising lotteries. That silly old Act is still in existence, and it is under that Act that you are asked to convict two respectable men and make them rogues and vagabonds.

"I doubt if there are many persons in this court who have not got in their possession a ticket for the Derby Sweep. The whole thing is an absolute farce. Nothing has been done to those persons fortunate enough to win prizes, but the poor men who sold some tickets, and were not lucky enough to draw a horse, are being prosecuted."

The cases were dismissed under the First Offenders Act.

AUSTRALIAN WOOL SALES.

At the wool sale at Sydney yesterday offerings totalled 10,115 bales, of which 9,387 were sold. Wool sold privately consisted of 869 bales. There was a good selection, and the market opened firm at last week's levels. Competition was good and general, Yorkshire and Japan being the chief supporters.

It was decided at a meeting of the Dublin Corporation last night to appoint a committee from the Council to prepare an address of welcome to the Cardinal Legate on the occasion of his visit to Dublin in connection with the Eucharistic Congress.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY.

M. Sauerwein's Introduction : Animal Surgery : The Bear's Record.
Securities as Wrapping Paper : Irish Granite : The Cigar Band.

Theological Introduction.

When M. Jules Sauerwein was in Dublin last week he told me an amusing story of his interview, which created a stir at the time, with the British Prime Minister. Mr. Macdonald, as is well known, rarely gives interviews to journalists, and M. Sauerwein did not expect to get much from him for publication. At an early stage in their conversation, however, the Frenchman happened to mention that he was a Calvinist. The Premier's eyes immediately lit up. "Can you tell me," said he, "the names of the minor prophets?" "Certainly," replied M. Sauerwein, and rattled them off—"Hosea, Joel, Obadiah, Jonah, Micah, Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi." Mr. Macdonald was so astonished that he gave his visitor a first-class interview. I wonder how many Irish journalists could emulate M. Sauerwein's feat? He did know the names, too, because he took my breath away by the ease with which he rattled them off.

Cigar Bands.

I was talking the other day with a friend about cigars, and I learnt for the first time why cigars had bands on them. I had always thought that the maker put the band on the cigar as a trade mark, but, though that is now the case, the origin of the band was much more utilitarian. When the Cubans started to make cigars they used to smoke them when the leaf was still in the green state, and, as at that period it was the fashion for Cubans to wear white gloves at all times, the result was that moist nicotine juice flowing back towards the mouth used to stain the gloves. To counteract this the manufacturers placed a paper band around the end of the cigar. With the change to the dry leaf the need for the paper guard was gone, but the manufacturers continued to use the band as a trade mark.

Treatment of Animals.

A veterinary surgeon tells me that methods used in animal surgery have improved enormously of late years. Some of the veterinary schools in America, I believe, are equipped with nearly as many up-to-date appliances as our modern hospitals, and animals which have to undergo operations are treated as painlessly as human beings. One of the most useful modern inventions for use in animal surgery is the fluoroscope—a sort of attachment to the X-ray apparatus which permits the surgeon to see all that is taking place inside the animal during the operation.

The different reactions of different animals to the ministrations of the surgeon are most interesting. Dogs make the best patients. No animal will endure so much involuntary pain as he. An intelligent dog will often submit to a painful operation without an anæsthetic once he realises that the surgeon is helping to relieve his pain. Cats will not submit voluntarily to the simplest operation, and leopards and tigers have to be tightly bound. On the other hand, an elephant rarely gives any trouble to his doctor. An intelligent elephant will even lift up his trunk and hold his head still to enable the surgeon to extract a painful tooth. Like the dog, he seems to know the surgeon is trying to help, and not to hurt him.

Irish Granite.

The news that Wicklow granite is to be used in the construction of Liverpool's new Roman Catholic Cathedral reminds me that Ireland has many varieties to offer of this durable and ornamental building stone. For instance, there are the beautiful and variegated granites of Galway, both of the chocolate-red and speckled types. The speckled granite, red mingled with green, found here is particularly hard; the green colour, due to epidote, indicates a general hardening of the stone. Donegal granites offer a great variety of colour. Then, near Rostrevor, there is a lovely dark-green dolerite, which frequently passes for granite, but is really of a different chemical composition; and at Arklow is the stone which is famous as a material for paving setts. Granite is especially important as a building material, on account of its weather-resisting and decorative qualities. Granite quarried from the Leinster chain forms the foundation of hundreds of Dublin's basement houses, and is the chief material used in many public buildings.

An Arctic Veteran.

Admiral Byrd is at present negotiating for the use of a former United States coastguard cutter on his next Polar expedition. Her name is the Bear, and already she has a career of honourable service to her credit. She was built about fifty-eight years ago at Dundee as a whaler, and for some years was engaged in this trade, working from Dundee and later from Newfoundland. About this time Sir John Franklin had been missing for a considerable period, and Lieutenant Greely had been sent in search of him. When Greely's return was long overdue, the United States Government decided to send a third expedition to see what traces could be found of the two others. For this purpose two whalers, along with a boat presented by Queen Victoria, were used. One of the whalers was the Bear. Afterwards she spent some time in patrolling a beat which extended for a considerable distance into the Arctic Circle, watching the North Pacific sealing grounds. When this duty was taken over by the Revenue Department, she was drafted for coastguard work, and, though her base was San Diego, the greater part of her work lay in the Arctic. During the war she was used as a naval patrol ship. The Bear was already a veteran when she brought Amundsen home after his unsuccessful Polar flight in 1923. She was replaced in 1924, and for some time past has enjoyed an honoured retirement.

Gilt-Edged Wrapping Paper.

I am told that among the sights of Paris which have disappeared during the last few years are the shabby pedlars who used to hang about the Bourse and offer thick wads of share certificates for next to nothing. One of them, however, continues in business, but has found it necessary to augment the potential attractions of his wares by something more immediately realisable. He sells fruit from a barrow, which he pushes about during the midday hours in those streets where midinettes congregate for lunch. His prices are very modest, but a notice on his stall states that he will wrap up the merchandise in genuine securities. A purchaser, therefore, receives his parcel done up in share certificates with a face value of several hundred francs, and the enterprising fruit merchant points out that by buying threepenny worth of grapes, for instance, customers become shareholders in many an undertaking in which they never dreamt of owning an interest.

QUIDNUNC.

DUBLIN ANIMALS' DISPENSARIES.

RE-OPENING OF CAMDEN PLACE CENTRE.

The re-opening of the Irish Blue Cross Dispensary at 6 Camden place, Dublin, with Captain Reavy, M.R.C.V.S.I., in attendance, places Dublin in the happy position of possessing two well-equipped dispensaries now in operation for the free treatment of sick animals belonging to poor people.

Thousands of sick animals of all classes have been gratuitously treated at the St. Francis Dispensary, 171a Parnell street, under the supervision of Mr. H. O'Leary, M.R.C.V.S.I., for some years. There should be no reason for animals to suffer from pain or disease because of their owners being too poor to pay for treatment now that dispensaries have been established both on the north and south sides of the city.

In the fifth annual report of the Animals' Protection League it is stated that the League was approached by the Irish Blue Cross Association to consider the possibility of co-ordinating the work of both bodies. As the result of considering the matter a resolution, "that we amalgamate with the Irish Blue Cross Association," will be submitted for approval at the next annual meeting.

FRENCH DRAMATIC CIRCLE'S PRODUCTION.

The Cercle Dramatique of the Dublin French Society will give a repeat performance of Halévy's comedy, "L'Eté de Saint-Martin," at the Peacock Theatre on Thursday, as all seats have been booked for the first performance to-morrow. The play has been produced by M. André Alphand, who will play the leading rôle, and others in the cast include M. Victor Wynburne, Mrs. Donal O'Sullivan and Madam Alibert.

The idea of the Cercle Dramatique, which is under the direction of Mrs. W. B. Yeats and Professor Starkie, is to give the Irish public an opportunity of seeing modern French plays.

CIVIL SERVICE MUSICAL SOCIETY.

On Friday next the Civil Service Musical Society will give its final concert of the present season, the gross proceeds of which, without any deduction, will be handed to the Civil Service Benevolent Fund. Schubert's "Song of Miriam" will be given, with chorus and orchestra, and the soloists will be Miss Christina Manning, Miss Nancie Lord and Mr. James Burke—all great favourites with Dublin audiences. Mrs. Sidford Fannin will accompany. The concert will take place at the Mansion House.

THE FUTURE OF IRISH DRAMA.

PLEA FOR IMAGINATIVE PLAYS.

A gathering of people interested in the promotion of the Irish language (in Irish, An Coimhthionol) was held last night in the Shelbourne Hotel, Dublin, when a paper in Irish was read by Mr. Micheal MacLiammoir, of the Gate Theatre, on the Irish drama in the future.

Professor Liam O'Brien, University College, Galway, presided. He said that the Gaelic drama in Dublin and in Galway owed a great deal to Mr. Ernest Blythe. In the course of his address he referred to the hold which the picture houses seemed to have upon the public of late years. He did not believe that the films would ever oust good Irish drama.

Realism, he said, was impracticable for the purpose of Gaelic drama until the whole of Ireland was completely Irish-speaking, as at present it was limited to such a narrow sphere—to such a life, indeed, as was confined to those portions of the Irish people to whom Irish is the native language.

Romanticism at present was a thing of the past. His object was to make a plea for what he called imaginative drama, in which, he believed, lay the hope of the future of Gaelic drama. He traced the beginning of a possible school of imaginative Gaelic drama to the plays of Dr. Douglas Hyde, and, to a certain extent, to Pearse's plays. But it was outside Ireland, and largely in the East, that the imaginative drama was to be seen in perfection. He believed that this school, with its endless possibilities and its indifference to the service of photographic details of everyday life, is ideal for the drama in the language that is so little spoken in the country as Irish is to-day.

Mr. Piaras Beaslai said that real drama in the Gaelic language was sadly lacking. He was not satisfied with translations from English and other languages, and he suggested that the ancient history of Ireland would furnish plenty of material for some of the best Gaelic dramas.

Mr. Gearoid O Lochlain also spoke.

Among those present were Dr. Douglas Hyde, Mr. Ernest Blythe, T.D.; Mr. R. Mulcahy, T.D., and An Seabhac.

CIVIL ENGINEERS.

DESIGN OF ARTERIAL DRAINAGE SCHEMES.

Mr. S. G. Gallagher, B.E., President, presided at last night's meeting of the Institution of Civil Engineers of Ireland at 35 Dawson street, Dublin, when a discussion took place on the "Notes on the Design of Arterial Drainage Schemes" submitted by a member, Mr. T. P. O'Flynn, B.E.

Regarding the economic aspect of arterial drainage, Mr. O'Flynn stated that the cost of a scheme depended on the degree of efficiency at which they aimed. Schemes designed to carry off the ordinary winter flood are relatively uneconomic, in that the yearly improvement in value would not meet the interest on the money expended. Large free grants are, therefore, necessary before a scheme can proceed. The amount of the free grant required depends on the total cost of the work and the total yearly improvement.

Assuming that the landowners are assessed at the full increase in value to their holdings, then the free grant necessary would be the total cost of the scheme, less the capitalised value of the net assessments. In such a case an allowance must be made for regular maintenance in order to justify the assessment of the full increase in annual value. Whatever sum is thus allowed for yearly maintenance must be deducted from the total assessment on the land. The net figure capitalised and deducted from the estimated cost will give the amount of the grant necessary. The amount of necessary grant, and hence the economic position of any scheme, depends very much on what figures the land valuer places on the estimated cost.

Mr. William A. Dowley, B.E., B.Sc. Venezuela, and Mr. P. J. McCloskey, B.E., B.Sc., Dublin, were elected associate members.

AEROPLANE CRASHES ON CURRAGH PLAIN.

"THE BARRETTS OF WIMPOLE STREET."

RETURN VISIT TO THE GAIETY THEATRE.

Doctor Chambers	Charles Leighton.
Elizabeth Barrett Moulton-Barrett	Nora Delany.
Wilson	Peggy Seton.
Henrietta Moulton-Barrett	Vivienne Jefferies.
Edward Moulton-Barrett	Arthur Bowers.
Bella Hedley	Corinne Bouchier.
Captain Surtees-Cook	Richard Fisher.
Robert Browning	E. Duncombe Branson.

And others.
Play produced by James Moran.

"Were there any truth in what you say, my life would be a hideous mockery."

Edward Moulton-Barrett used these words to his daughter Elizabeth in the final act of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," which was presented for the first time on its return visit to the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin, last night. That his life is held to be a hideous mockery in Rudolf Besier's play will affect him little now, but it is also something of a criticism of everything for which his generation stood.

Last night the Gaiety Theatre was filled with an audience that was thrilled and, perhaps, scandalised by this play that must be termed great. In "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" Rudolf Besier has written a play that is as likely to achieve permanence as anything written during recent years, partly because of the immortality of its leading characters, but only little less so by the art with which these people have been presented. It is a play that demonstrates the vitality of the contemporary theatre, as it is a play that everyone will be the better for having seen.

Nothing that has yet been said against the Victorian age will damage it so much as this great play. The tyranny of Edward Moulton-Barrett is almost inconceivable in this age of liberty and frankness. The ailing eldest daughter he almost idolised; she was the only one of his eleven children that he even pretended to love. For the others he had little beyond contempt, and he ruled their lives as if they had been purchased slaves. Marriage and courtship he abhorred, so great was the reaction from the days of the Regency.

Into the life of the invalid Elizabeth came Robert Browning, like a "series of electric shocks," as she says. Browning's faith and love enabled Elizabeth to recover her health and strength, but she dallied with his offer of marriage. It was the cruel treatment of Henrietta that determined the matter, as it was her father's confession at the last moment that made it impossible to remain longer under his roof. In these scenes Mr. Besier reaches his triumph, and everyone who sees the play will thank him for them.

While the company presenting the play this week is not comparable with the company that presented it at the Gaiety Theatre six months ago, the acting is still more than competent. Miss Nora Delany makes a rather plaintive figure of Elizabeth in the opening scenes, but later she becomes the heroic figure of Browning's imagination. Mr. Duncombe Branson is just a little impetuous as Robert Browning, his hurried entrances and exits and his whirlwind wooing are just that shade overdone that brings them within the range of laughter. Edward Moulton-Barrett had more iron in his composition that Mr. Arthur Bowers would suggest, as his stern disposition was based upon something more than staccato utterance. Despite these little blemishes the three principals acquitted themselves well in a play that calls for the greatest skill in acting.

The smaller parts were all capably filled, particularly those of Henrietta by Miss Vivienne Jefferies, Bella Hedley by Miss Corinne Bouchier, and Captain Surtees-Cook by Mr. Richard Fisher.

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street" will be repeated every evening this week at 8 o'clock, and also at matinée performances on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at 2.30.

FATHER MATHEW FEIS.

JUNIOR DRAMATIC TESTS.

The Junior Dramatic Competition of the Father Mathew Feis opened last night in the Hall, Church street, with the presentation of two plays by the pupils of the Merton Hall Academy, Philipsburgh avenue. Mr. J. J. Hayes, President of the Tailteann Dramatic Committee, is adjudicating, and the contest will conclude on Wednesday night. There are five entries.

In the first of the plays presented last night all the fourteen players were under the age of ten, and only one, Miss Margery McClancy, who appeared as "Prince Charming," attained that maximum. The cast was as follows:—"Cinderella," Audrey McCrumm; "Prince Charming," Margery McClancy; "Fairy Godmother," Kathleen Dunne; "Sir Hector," Francis King; "Halliday," Joan Nathan; "Herald," Brendan Tierney; "Proudie," Kathleen Sparkes; "Crosspatch," Liam MacIntosh; Fairies—Imelda Rogers, Mary McLaughlin, Joan O'Neill, Shiela Ryan, Marie Sweeney and Collette Cream.

Seventeen years was the age limit in the second play produced, "Miss Jemima's Pets," by Madame Cecilia—another entry from the Merton Hall Academy, Philipsburgh avenue. The cast was as follows:—"Miss Jemima Walton" and "Mrs. Walton," Lily Trainor; "Mary Walton," Mavis Byrne; "Alice Walton," Billie Argue; "Mrs. Thorn," Patricia Bolger; "Mrs. Tinker," Detta Murphy; "Peggy," Pauline Rogers, and "Martha Griffin," Mollie Walsh.

The producer in each instance was Miss Vera MacIntosh.

THE VOLUNTEER RESERVE.

RECRUITING STILL GOING ON.

The news that the Volunteer Reserve recruiting depôt in O'Connell street, Dublin, has been closed down has created an impression that recruiting for this branch of the Forces has been suspended. Such an impression is wrong.

A depôt may be opened in one of the city barracks, and Portobello Barracks is mentioned as the one to be selected, but this has yet to be confirmed by the Army authorities. The premises in O'Connell street were taken only for a period which is now ended, and could not be extended, as the place was required for other purposes.

Recruiting for the Regular Army has not ceased. There has not been a general recruiting drive, and the principle followed is that when a suitable candidate presents himself for enlistment he is accepted after the usual tests. The strength of the Regular Army at the moment is stated to be about 5,500 men.

It is not proposed to make any change in the method of recruitment in either the Regular or Reserve Forces in the Free State.

THE ROYAL DRAWING SOCIETY.

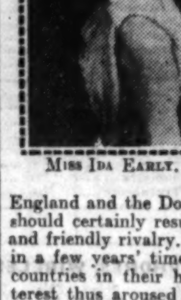

FREE STATE SUCCESSES.

TO-DAY the forty-third annual exhibition of the Royal Drawing Society opens in the Guildhall Art Gallery, London. The past forty-three years have seen many changes in educational methods, but in the teaching of Art the change has, happily, been sweeping. Visitors to the Royal Drawing Society's show of drawings and paintings by the young people of Britain and the Dominions will agree that a method of teaching which trains boys and girls from their earliest years to observe the beauty and movement of the world they live in must develop their intelligence. When, in addition, they can so clearly memorise the results of their observations that they are able to reproduce them correctly after a lapse of time, the training becomes invaluable.

This power of visualisation, quite apart from the real pleasure it adds to life, is an immense help, first in general education, and later in any trade or profession, particularly that of teaching. Modern methods of teaching history, geography and other subjects demand an ability in the teacher to draw freely on the blackboard from memory. This training in memory-drawing must be begun in childhood, while the observation is fresh and keen. Except in rare cases of natural ability, the adult cannot master it during the limited period of a teachers' training course.

As the entries for the exhibition run into thousands of drawings, it is only possible to hang the best on the screens, though all are actually on view. The ground covered includes nearly every branch of Art, but it is noticeable that figures, animals and machines, being endowed with movement, are the most popular subjects among these youthful draughtsmen. The special screens devoted to snapshot drawings show that Mr. Ablett, the Founder and Art Director of the Society, is fully justified in attaching so much importance to this particular branch of training.

On two of these screens will be found drawings of a young exhibitor from the Irish Free State, Ida Early, a pupil of the Ablett Studio, Dublin. For these sketches of life and movement in the Dublin streets this promising young artist has been awarded a Silver Star. Other works from the same studio, which have received First Class Commended, are also hung. It is encouraging to see that the young people of the Irish Free State can hold their own in open competition with those of England and the Dominions. A wider outlook should certainly result from such invigorating and friendly rivalry. These young people will, in a few years' time, hold the future of their countries in their hands, and the mutual interest thus aroused should bear good fruit in the days of their responsibility.

MISS IDA EARLY.

The prizes for snapshot drawing awarded by H.R.H. the Princess Louise have been gained this year by Betty Prater, aged seventeen, for a sheet of figures in action, seen at school, and by M. E. C. Graves for drawings of engines seen on his daily railway journey to school.

THEATRE ROYAL.

A capital variety show is being given at the Theatre Royal, Dublin, this week. Last night's audience gave every evidence of having thoroughly enjoyed it. As a whole, the programme is a peep into the past and a showing forth of the things that entertained our fathers. The right-up-to-date cinema patron of to-day would enjoy the Theatre Royal programme as a novelty revealing the music hall entertainments of the "good old days."

This entertainment is presented by Mr. Lew Lake, who has gathered together a number of good artists and favourites at famous London music halls. In most pleasing variety, they show how a past generation enjoyed itself, and on the merits of the entertainment they must have been afforded unstinted amusement. Of the performers should be mentioned Florence Smithson, who was well-known to Dublin when the Arcadians came here years ago. She has an exceedingly sweet-toned soprano voice. Vesta Victoria, whose name is known throughout the Three Kingdoms, gave selections from her old-time repertoire, such as "Now I have to call him father" and "Waiting at the church," etc., and carried the new-time audience with her. Harry Champion in a delightful manner exhibited the best form of the old-time comedian, as did Fred. Barnes, on the lighter side.

IT BROUGHT LUCK.

Miss B. Mayne, goalkeeper of Ards (Belfast), hangs a horse-shoe on the goal post before the start of the All-Ireland Ladies' Hockey Cup final with Cork at Claremont road, Sandymount, Dublin. Ards won 4-2.

A FILM OF THE WEEK.

"THE GHOST TRAIN" AT THE GRAFTON.

"The Ghost Train" has been an outstanding success on the stage. It was one of the most effective silent films, and now, as a "talkie," it repeats its previous successes. In its latest guise it is just a little less of a "thriller" than those who have seen it before will remember, and it is a great deal more of a comedy. The description "a comedy thriller" fits it exactly; the comedy element is very pronounced, but when the thrills come they are sufficiently effective.

It will probably be remembered that Arnold Ridley's play deals with a number of travellers who are stranded in a lonely railway station, said to be haunted by a ghostly train. The story shows how they are affected until one member of the party lays the ghost and solves the problem. The party is assorted, so that clarity of characterisation gives scope for some of the funniest scenes in recent films. The film is much funnier than the play, and as a consequence it is splendid entertainment. Those who like their "thrills" in moderation and their laughter in generous measure will really like "The Ghost Train"; it is a long series of laughs.

REALISM.

For the making of "The Ghost Train" the Great Western Railway of England co-operated with the producers, and gave assistance that will be readily recognised as most valuable. Permission was given to open up two miles of disused railway track in the Avon Valley, including the station at Camerton, where several scenes were filmed. The permission included the use of two trains and the right to take scenes at the famous Swing Bridge at Barmouth in North Wales. The inhabitants at Camerton took such interest in the doings of the film-makers that many of them were allowed to act as passengers in the train used for the picture. How the Swing Bridge at Barmouth was used will be seen when a train rushes to destruction and hurls itself over the bridge into the swirling waters. There are few scenes that can give the same thrilling effect as a railway train rushing to destruction, and, no matter how often the scene is repeated, the effect of the awesome spectacle does not seem to be lessened. In "The Ghost Train" this is one of the most spectacular scenes which, taken with the fearsomely funny scenes at the station, makes it such delightful entertainment.

RICH COMEDY.

The comedy is in the capable hands of Jack Hulbert and Cicely Courtneidge, so that there is a plentiful supply of laughter when they are holding the screen. Hulbert plays with rich gusto the "silly ass" part of Teddy Deakin. He tries to liven up things for his fellow wayfarers, but they are all so strung-up waiting for something dreadful to happen that audiences will experience more of the fun than they did. Cicely Courtneidge gives a rich study of Miss Bourne, and is particularly amusing in the scene where that strictly brought-up lady becomes slightly tipsy in her determination not to be awed.

One of the outstanding performances is the fine study of the stationmaster, Saul Hodgkin, given by Donald Calthrop. Those who remember his performance in "Blackmail" will expect much, and they will not be disappointed. His performance in "The Ghost Train" will rank him as the most hopeful of British film personalities. Donald Calthrop has Irish associations by the fact that he is the grandson of Dion Boucicault, whose melodramas of Irish life contributed so much to the theatre in Ireland and America during the latter half of the last century. He was born in London forty-four years ago, made his first appearance on the stage in 1906, and went into films about three years ago. He is another of the actors with Irish blood to take a leading part in film work, and he seems destined to take a leading part in the struggle of British films for supremacy.

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT.

There are other prominent London stage personalities in "The Ghost Train," and all of them do good work. Ann Todd appears as Peggy Murdoch, Angela Baddeley as Julie Price, and Cyril Raymond as Richard Winthrop.

In "The Ghost Train" the melodrama is good, but the comedy is much better; so good is the comedy, indeed, that it occasionally gets the better of the melodrama and gives a slightly wrong twist to the story. Nevertheless, this is an excellent British film, splendidly acted, competently directed, and calculated to give more than its cost in entertainment. "The Ghost Train" is most emphatically a film that should be seen.

"THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER" REVIVED.

It was a pleasant experience at the Olympia Theatre last night to sit through the presentation of the comic opera, "The Chocolate Soldier," which Strauss set so delightfully round Bernard Shaw's play, "Arms and the Man." The work is being performed by the Fitzgerald Operatic Society, and includes among the principals well-known Dublin singers who have been for years prominently before the public. Indeed, many of them made their début in operatic work of this kind under the baton of the present musical conductor, Mr. C. P. Fitzgerald, in the early days of the Rathmines Society.

There was about the work last night a little of that disjointedness which one gets on first nights, but, on the whole, the comedy ran well, and as the week advances these shortcomings should disappear, and the show should be very good. The ladies are particularly good, Miss Lena Munro carrying the part of Nadina exceptionally well. Indeed, her singing could not have been excelled. Then Miss Joan Burke, as Aurelia, the wife of the peppery Colonel, and Miss Florrie Howley as the cousin, Mascha, played and sang well to each other. These three sang the familiar women's trio in the second act very artistically. Mr. Irvine Lynch and Mr. J. C. Browner were very effective in their parts as Colonel and Sergeant respectively, their voices coming through with fine warmth and resonance. Mr. J. O'Neill was the heroic Alexius, and Mr. W. H. Jones the Chocolate Soldier, Bumerli.

There is a very fine chorus, as usual in these local operatic society performances, and though they were somewhat unbalanced last night, they will be all right before the week is through.

The settings are excellent, and Mr. Fitzgerald carries the work through at a nice pace.

The Dublin Corporation at their quarterly meeting last night passed votes of sympathy with the relatives of the late Sir Horace Plunkett, and of the late ex-Alderman J. Keogh Hanley, and also with Mr. A. E. Wood, K.C., on the death of his son.

ON THE WIRELESS

A MISCELLANY FROM DAVENTRY.

A COLLECTION of plays, songs, poems, and a ballet chosen and adapted for broadcasting by C. Denis Freeman and M. H. Allen, are being presented by the Daventry National Station this evening, under the title of "A Miscellany," which will include: "Ma Parker," by Katherine Mansfield; piano duets, by Hugh Bradford and Angus Morrison; "The Jackdaw and the Pigeons," music by Hugh Bradford, to be played by the composer. There are many other attractive items. There is no attempt in this to present a programme that relies for its interest upon a single theme: all the items are complete in themselves. From Dublin to-night there will be a programme of music by pupils of the Leinster School of Music, lasting for half an hour, from eight o'clock. This will be followed by a recital from the popular Station Sextet and some songs by the well-known baritone, A. J. O'Farrell, who has chosen "The Roman Road" (Henty), "The Floral Dance" (Moss), "The Poacher" (Vaughan), "Gypsy Dan" (K. Russell), and "Lights Out" (Bath).

IN THE NORTHERN CAPITAL.

Ulster to show at Cork Fair : Films to entice Tourists : Australian Wine. Orange Order's Plans.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.
BELFAST, Monday.

IT is gratifying to learn that the manufacturers of Northern Ireland are to be strongly represented at the forthcoming Irish Industries Fair at Cork, and that they are getting every possible assistance and encouragement to make the Ulster section a success. In organising this national event no border is recognised, the only consideration being that in the development of Irish industries the welfare of the country as a whole will be promoted. With that vision to guide them North and South are united in the bonds of common interests and friendship, and there should be no doubt as to the result.

The business community of the Six Counties were interested in a reference to this question the other day at the Teachers' Congress in Dublin, when it was stated by one of the principal officials of the Fair that it was an Irish venture in every respect, and that the management was working in cordial co-operation with Northern merchants. So far as that was concerned there was no dividing line to separate them. This sentiment was endorsed by Mr. Robert McNeilly, a Ballymena representative, who asserted that in the support of Irish manufactures North and South were united.

TOURIST DEVELOPMENT.

Although the holiday season is still far away, arrangements are already being made to attract tourists to the northern province during the summer months. This year the Belfast Government has given a grant of £1,500 to the Ulster Tourist Development Association, while the City Council has voted £750, and substantial sums are expected from various local authorities.

The Eucharistic Congress in the South and the special celebrations in the North connected with the 1,500th centenary of St. Patrick, as well as other events of outstanding importance, are expected to bring many thousands of visitors to our shores, and Ulster hopes to share in the reaping of a rich financial harvest. The railway and 'bus services bring Belfast and Dublin within a few hours' distance of each other, and friends and strangers from overseas will, no doubt, include all Ireland in their travels before returning home.

By the way, cinema films of Ulster beauty spots and a "talkie" of the great T.T. motor car race are to be included in this year's publicity campaign for the Six Counties. This is a step in the right direction.

THE POTEEN PROBLEM.

It is stated by those who have studied the subject that Northern Ireland is responsible for eighty per cent. of the convictions for the manufacture of illicit spirits throughout the whole of the United Kingdom. This is an unenviable distinction, but the frequent seizures of poteen, and the organised raids by the police in boggy and hilly districts along the border seem to show that it is not unmerited.

Representatives of the licensed trade in the Six Counties have invited the Northern Ireland Imperial members of Parliament to use their influence at Westminster to secure a reduction of duty on spirits and beer, and it was asserted that one of the principal reasons for the decline of the legitimate trade was the prevalence of illicit spirits, and that "not a single day passes without some publican in Northern Ireland being asked to purchase a quantity of poteen."

It was added that evasions might be expected to continue, as the poteen manufacturers had the sympathy and support of that section of the community who found themselves deprived of wholesome liquors through excessive taxation. A curious sequel to the decrease in the consumption of spirits is the increase in the drinking of cheap Australian wine.

HOUSES FOR THE POOR.

An important subject, which did not receive very much attention, came before the Belfast Corporation at its meeting during the week-end. A deputation interested in workers' houses urged the Council to raise funds by loan or otherwise and form a scheme for the erection or purchase of dwellings suitable for the poorer classes, and at a rent which they can pay. It was pointed out that such a type of low-rented house is required so that the health of the workers of the city may be promoted. The Riddell and Willowbank estates were suggested as sites for the proposed buildings. The Council took no action in matter.

This is one of the problems which will have to be tackled by the Corporation sooner or later. Many housing schemes have been completed by the Council, but, as has been frequently pointed out by those interested in social conditions—including the Council's own advisers—not one of these has improved the housing of the very poor who exist in slum areas, where, of course, the danger to the public health is greatest. A couple of years ago, when this question was previously shelved, it was stated that with the passing of the Town Planning Act it would be possible to clear away slumdom and provide decent houses at small rents for the "submerged tenth," but promises are not always remembered.

ORANGE CELEBRATIONS.

Special significance is being attached by the Orange Order to its celebrations on the Twelfth of July this year. As usual, the brethren will meet at Finaghy, a few miles from Belfast, on the extensive grounds which were purchased by the institution some years ago. Representatives are expected from all parts of the Empire, and these will include Mr. John Easton, Imperial Grand President of Canada and Sovereign Grand Master of British America; Lieutenant-Colonel the Hon. T. Ashmore Kidd, M.P., and other members of a large party who will sail on the Athenia, leaving Montreal on 1st July for the meeting of the Orange Triennial.

The arrangements for the reception of the visitors are being carried out by officers of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ireland. A few months ago there was a controversy in the Belfast Press as to the wisdom or otherwise of holding demonstrations commemorating the Battle of the Boyne, but the final word was said by Sir Joseph Davison, Grand Master of Belfast, who declared that "the drums would beat and the banners would fly as usual," according to tradition. For various reasons it is expected that this year's processions will be the most imposing on record.

TRAVELLING SUNDAY SCHOOLS IN CANADA.

Miss Eva Hasell, who is lecturing in Ireland this week, is the discoverer of a novel and most effective method of meeting the spiritual needs of the scattered settlers in Western Canada. Twelve years ago she equipped a Sunday School caravan, in which she toured the Diocese of Qu'Appelle, holding Services and enrolling children for the Sunday School Post. Since then she has equipped fourteen vans for different dioceses and enlisted twenty-eight workers.

On Wednesday, April 6th, she will give two lectures in Dublin. The Archbishop of Dublin will preside at the afternoon meeting in the C.M.S. Hall at 3.30 o'clock, and the lecture in Rathmines Parochial Hall at 8 p.m. will be illustrated by lantern views.

No more INDIGESTION!

Meals without misery depend on freedom from acidity, for nine times out of ten, pain and discomfort after eating are due to excess acid in the stomach which interrupts digestion and causes fermentation and distension. To neutralise the acidity and thus get prompt relief there is nothing so quick, safe or sure as 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after meals or when pain is felt. Not one or two, but thousands of doctors all over the world use and recommend 'Bisurated' Magnesia because it gives quick relief from digestive troubles by removing the cause.

Belfast's Great Reservoir.

The Silent Valley Triumph.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
BELFAST, Monday.

MR. DAVID ADAMS, J.P., past Chairman of the Belfast Water Commissioners, and President of the Association of Water Engineers, delivered an address to the Belfast Chamber of Trade on the subject of the city water supply. He said that the total cost of the job was originally estimated at one million pounds to go down sixty feet. The cost to go down between sixty feet and 212 feet, i t would be admitted, would be much dearer each foot down the depth the job would have cost £1,300,000, whereas the job now being finished would cost, roughly, £1,320,000. If, however, any engineer had thought he would have to go down 212 feet he never would have tackled the job. They had shown the engineering world something they had never been before, a new method which had changed the outlook of water engineering. Their reservoir was absolutely water tight. The Trust received a quarter of a million in rates, not one-fourth of which was used in upkeep, salaries, and running expenses. In 1933 they would have to consider an increase in rates of 3d. or 4d. in the £, but in five or ten years that would gradually come down again, because they would be in a position to sell water to local authorities within a reasonable distance from Belfast.

"I am perfectly satisfied we are getting good value for all the money spent at the Valley," said Mr. Adams. They expected the whole job would be completed by October. They had, roughly, 850 million gallons of water now in the reservoir, which, when full, would hold 3,000 million gallons.

Waterford as Deep Sea Fishing Base.

Three Trawlers Coming.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
WATERFORD, Monday.

A definite move towards the establishment of a deep-sea fishing base at Waterford has now been made. Work is in progress in regard to the provision of accommodation at Waterford Market House for the purpose of packing, sorting and grading. It was learned to-day that three of the trawlers will arrive here on Monday. They are the Hood (203 tons gross), Cadhock (203) and Tom Jenkerson (206). They have been chartered from Messrs. R. Taylor, Dundee.

Salmon Box-Trap.

Justice's Comment in Drogheda Case.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
DROGHEDA, Monday.

Captain Arthur Coddington, Oldbridge, Drogheda, and Michael O'Hagan, West street, Drogheda, were prosecuted by the Boyne Fishery Conservators at Drogheda District Court to-day for having a salmon box-trap set during the weekly close season—6 p.m. on Saturday to 6 a.m. on Monday. Both defendants were members of the Fishery Board.

The evidence of the Fishery Inspector showed that he visited the fishery at Oldbridge on Monday morning, March 21, at 4 o'clock, and found the salmon box-trap on the north side set and in working order.

Mr. Joseph Tiernan, manager of the fishery, said also a member of the Fishery Board, denied having set the trap or giving his men orders to do so. They had trouble on several occasions over these traps, and their fishing appliances were injured maliciously more than once.

Captain R. Law, Chairman of the Fishery Board, admitted, in cross-examination, that there was some feeling between certain riverowners regarding these box-traps.

The Justice said that there appeared to be a very strong probability that the trap was set maliciously, having regard to the evidence of previous interference.

He adjourned his decision until after the Fishery Board had held a consultation on the question of whether the payment of costs and expenses by the defendants would be sufficient.

Galway Murder Charge.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
GALWAY, Monday.

At Spiddal District Court to-day John Burke, of 2 St. Helen's street, Galway, was charged with the murder of his wife, Alice Burke, a native of Sligo.

Superintendent Hunt, Galway, gave evidence of arrest, and swore that when charged and cautioned the accused man said: "I have nothing to say. I know nothing about it."

The accused man asked if he could have a solicitor to appear for him at the next court.

District Justice MacGiollarnath said that he certainly could.

The accused man was remanded in custody to the District Court, to be held at Galway on Thursday.

Death at 103.—Mr. William Johnston, Gouseladge, County Donegal, the oldest inhabitant in the county, has died at the age of 103 years.

"The Oath will Go."

Minister on Fianna Fail's Aims.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
DUNDALK, Monday.

SPEAKING at a Ceilidh in Dundalk Town Hall last night, Mr. Frank Aiken, Free State Minister for Defence, said that Fianna Fail was in the position of the man who had cleared a piece of virgin soil of rocks and had sown the seed, but had not yet reaped the harvest. They had undertaken a difficult task in taking over the Government of the country, and the job had not yet been done. The Oath was still to go, but it was going. The people of the country had definitely made up their minds that they were not going to allow British policy to divide the people, and that anybody with a policy could enter the Parliament and press there to put that policy in operation. They wanted all policies represented in the Parliament of the people, and they were going to see that any policy the people of this country wanted would be put into operation, no matter what England, or any other country wanted. When the Oath was removed the Government in operation in the twenty-six counties would be somewhat similar in character to the Government which was in operation from 1919 to 1921.

"NO LUXURY."

The Fianna Fail Government was trying to uphold the sovereignty, independence and unity of this country. Their policy was not merely a national policy for independence; they also had a policy of social justice—that was, simply Christian justice. They knew well the state of the country, and the number of people who wished work and who were unable to get it. Fianna Fail maintained that there should be no luxury until such people had been looked after. With the help of God, and the people, they intended to carry on until the country was as free as God intended it should be.

Mr. T. P. Coffey, solicitor, said that an unnatural barrier divided their country, which had to pay the expenses of two Governments. That unnatural barrier was put there through the designs of British Statesmen to divide Ireland in fact, if not in spirit. But so sure as they were assembled there that night the barrier separating Northern Ireland from the rest of the country would go.

"Land Annuities will be Retained."

Deputy tells how Money will Be Spent.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
WESTPORT, Monday.

Speaking at a meeting in Drummin yesterday, Mr. E. Moane, T.D., said that, with the loyalty of the people, the Government would remove all obstacles to national progress and prosperity. The oath would go, and the land annuities would be retained by the Government, who would use the money for the development of agriculture and the relief of unemployment.

As a result of the stoppage of emigration, they were confronted with the problem of finding work for a growing population. The people were the real wealth of a country, and the first duty of a Government—that of finding employment for its citizens—would not be neglected by Fianna Fail, who were not a half-hearted party where the welfare and honour of the nation were concerned, as was evidenced by the swiftness with which they carried out the mandate given to them by the people at the general election.

Trim Rate Down.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
TRIM, Monday.

Mr. T. L. Forde, the Commissioner administering the affairs of Trim Urban District Council, in his sixth annual statement to-day, announced a reduction of 2s. 6d. in the £ in the rate from 16s. 6d. to 14s. Prior to his taking up office the ordinary liabilities of the Council, which should have been discharged out of revenue, amounted to £3,469 19s.

The town rate of 9s. 10d. in the £ was the lowest since the year ending March 31, 1921, and the combined rate the lowest since the year ending March 31, 1923.

The Commissioner added that the rate had not yet touched rock bottom. With prudent administration a further substantial reduction should materialise next year.

KILL O' THE GRANGE POTTERY

A preliminary meeting of those interested in the re-opening of the Kill-o'-the-Grange Pottery Works, Monkstown, was held last night in the Town Hall, Dun Laoghaire. Following an informal discussion as to procedure, in which Mr. J. M. Devitt, Chairman, Dun Laoghaire Corporation; Messrs. Stephen Ashlin, B.C.; M. O'Donnell, B.C.; J. Ward and J. C. O'Brien, C.E., took part, it was decided that the promoters should prepare a scheme for submission to the Ministry for Industry and Commerce, to be discussed at a meeting to be called when this statement is prepared. During the discussion it was stated that the owner of the land, two acres in extent, which consisted of suitable clay, was willing to sell his interest in it.

Seven Hours of Oratory.

Women Speakers Competition.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
BELFAST, Monday Night.

WOMEN orators from all over the six counties took part this afternoon in Belfast in a Speakers' Competition which was organised by the Ulster Women's Unionist Council, whose president is the Viscountess Craigavon. All candidates had to be amateur speakers.

It was the first time the competitions had been held, and they attracted not only a number of speakers, but also a very large audience, who patiently waited for almost seven hours listening to earnest young women discussing all sorts of political subjects from the point of view of the Unionist policy.

The Right Hon. Sir Hugh O'Neill, M.P., and Mr. Geoffrey Garrod, M.A., acted as adjudicators. They confessed themselves very pleased with the standard reached in the team speaking class, and very disappointed with that reached in the individual class. First place in the team-speaking class, in which there were ten competitors, went to Belfast No. 1 team (Miss K. Entrican, Miss Garvin and Miss Lesley Bell), with 95 marks; second went to Ballycastle team (Miss Boyd, Miss Miller and Mrs. Casement), with 92 marks; and third (equal) was awarded Portrush team (Miss Creart, Miss Sybil Cuthell and Miss Miller) and Cookstown No. 1 team (Mrs. Adair, Miss Allen and Mrs. Entrican), with 90 marks.

Eleven entered in the individual speakers' class. First place was awarded to Miss Lyle, with 86 marks; second went to Miss Adair, with 84 marks, and third went to Mrs. Denny, with 82 marks.

The Viscountess Craigavon presented the trophies to the winners.

Sudden Death In Office.

Town Clerk of Bangor.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.
BELFAST, Monday.

MR. JAMES MILLIKEN, Town Clerk of Bangor, Co. Down, died suddenly in his office in the Town Hall, Bangor, to-day. He had a seizure and collapsed about 2 o'clock, and died almost immediately. He was an esteemed official, and an expert on all questions regarding municipal administration. His knowledge was frequently placed at the disposal of the Northern Government Departments, and many of the recent local Acts of Parliament bear the impress of his judgment. He was a founder of the Ulster Tourist Development Association, and took a prominent part in its activities. He was appointed Town Clerk of Bangor on March 17th, 1902, in succession to Mr. Thomas Morgan. Prior to that he had been assistant to the late Mr. James Colville, his uncle, who was Clerk to the Newtownards Union.

A son of the late Mr. James Milliken, Tullynagardy, Newtownards, he received his early education at the Model School, Newtownards. Mr. Milliken went to Bangor at a very critical period in its history, and his term of office coincided with the remarkable development which transformed a small town of 6,000 inhabitants into a prosperous borough to-day, with a winter population estimated at 16,000; a summer population of 30,000, and a valuation of £77,000.

Bangor boundary was extended twice during his clerkship, the first time being in 1904.

Mr. Milliken took an active interest in the General Council of Municipal Authorities, being appointed Hon. Secretary on its formation in 1924. He held this position for seven years, and was made the recipient of an address and a canteen of cutlery in appreciation of his services on his retirement. Mr. Milliken was also presented with his portrait in March, 1928, in commemoration of the granting of the Charter of Incorporation to Bangor, a tribute to his work and worth being paid on that occasion by the Prime Minister (Viscount Craigavon).

AEROPLANE CRASHES ON CURRAGH PLAIN.

PILOT AND PASSENGER UNINJURED.

When attempting to alight in his Gipsy Moth aeroplane on the Curragh plain, near Kildare about 7 o'clock on Sunday evening, Mr. L. F. Partidge, the well-known racehorse owner, flew his machine into some telephone wires and crashed to the ground. The aircraft was badly damaged, but Mr. Partidge and his lady passenger escaped uninjured. It is believed that the accident occurred through the wires being invisible to the pilot in the dusk.

Mr. Partidge only recently took his aeroplane over from the Army Air Corps at Baldonnel aerodrome, where it had been undergoing repairs as the result of a crash on the Curragh last year. Yesterday afternoon he had flown the machine to Clowanstown Stud Farm, near Tara, County Meath, and was returning to visit Mr. H. M. Hartigan, the racehorse trainer, of Ruanbeg, when the crash occurred.

A brief investigation of the circumstances of the accident will, probably, be held by an Army Air Corps official, on behalf of the Department of Industry and Commerce, today, after which the machine will be returned to Baldonnel for repairs and a renewal of its certificate of airworthiness.

LEGACY TO SUPPORT A DOG.

WEALTHY KILKENNY MAN'S WILL.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

Questions on the construction of the will of Timothy W. Kelly, deceased, of Upper Tullaroan, Co. Kilkenny, came up for the determination of the Court.

The testator bequeathed all his stock (except that bequeathed to Catherine Duggan) and all his property in America and the residue of his estate of every kind to be sold and converted into money by his executors and trustees, who were to divide the residue in equal shares between his first cousin, Mary Cleary (Mainie), and his first cousin, James Cleary, and Catherine Cleary, of Urard, Dr. Thomas Cleary and Laurence Cleary, and Patrick Dunne, and his first cousins were appointed residuary legatees and devisees of his will as tenants in common.

The questions asked were—(1) Is the entire clause residuary? (2) Is the bequest of all his stock specific? and (3) Is the devise and bequest of all his property in America specific? The following further questions were asked:—Whether the legacy of £100 for the support of testator's dog is void? Whether the gift for Masses and any balance remaining of this £100 is void? If the gift for the support of the dog is void, whether the sum of £100 is applicable for Masses immediately or after the death of the last surviving dog, or falls into the residue?

Mr. M. Comyn, K.C., and Mr. J. J. Walsh (instructed by Messrs. Laurence Ryan and Son) appeared for James Cleary and Catherine Cleary, of Urard, Urlingford, Co. Tipperary, plaintiffs; Mr. Price, K.C., and Mr. T. Bacon (instructed by Mr. Nicholas Healy) for the defendant, Senator Dillon, Tullaroan, Kilkenny, one of the executors of the deceased man; Mr. James Binchy, K.C., and Mr. Esmonde (instructed by Mr. E. Lloyd) for Miss Catherine Duggan, Tullaroan, a legatee; and Mr. McGuckin (instructed by Mr. John S. O'Connor) for the Attorney-General.

Replying to Mr. Justice Meredith, Mr. Comyn said that the Irish property was worth £5,020 and the American from £30,000 to £40,000. The Irish property was not sufficient to cover even a percentage of the pecuniary legacies bequeathed by the testator.

The further hearing was adjourned until to-day.

OBITUARY.

DR. J. C. FRANKLIN.

Many people in the South of Ireland will hear with regret of the death ten days ago of Dr. James Curtis Franklin, which took place suddenly at Durban, South Africa. Born in Cork 53 years ago, Dr. Franklin received his medical education at Queen's College (now University College) in that city, and he took his degree at Edinburgh. He started his medical career during the South African War, when he served with the British forces. When peace came he served for a considerable time in Gambia and Nigeria. Seven years ago he retired from the West African Medical Service, and four years afterwards he joined the Union Castle Company as ship's surgeon. In that capacity he had an opportunity of attending the Prince of Wales on board the Kenilworth Castle.

His home was at Bromley, Kent, where he and his family were highly respected for the past twenty-eight years. He left England on his last voyage on February 28th, and was then in perfect health, but on arrival at Durban he was seriously ill, and died after a short time in hospital. Although he lived at Bromley only for short intervals his genial generous Irish nature made him a favourite with all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance.

Mrs. H. BISHOP DERIVES GREAT BENEFIT

ANY AMOUNT OF ENERGY

from Vitalising effect of PHOSFERINE

'My husband, a Minister, derives great benefit from the use of Phosferine, and I found immediate benefit from it. Two or three days ago I was feeling seriously knocked out and nerve shaken through too much mental and holiday work combined, but at night was able to speak with any amount of energy after a few Phosferine tablets taken during the day at intervals. Phosferine is certainly most revitalising and wards off exhaustion and depression and keeps one able to stand up to things. My entirely unsolicited testimonial is prompted by goodwill, and expresses the sentiments of my husband and many others regarding its excellence."

"A VERY SERIOUS CASE."

JUDGE AND LOCAL BODIES.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

The case of Patrick O'Connor and Son, Ltd., against Christopher Gorey, of Newtownrathgarty, came before the Court on a motion on behalf of the Royal Bank for an order to make absolute a conditional order for the attachment of Joseph Kennedy and David Hall, both of Moybeggan, Co. Meath, for having, as alleged, sent to Messrs. Gavin Low, Ltd., Prussia street, Dublin—of which firm Charles Bancroft Armstrong, the receiver appointed by the Court in the suit, is a member—an intimidating notice—namely, a copy of a resolution stated to have been passed by the Hatchett Camman Fianna Fail, and signed by Joseph Kennedy as chairman and David Hall as secretary; and, further, because David Hall had sent, as alleged, to Messrs. Gavin Low, Ltd., an intimidating letter enclosing a copy of the resolution.

Mr. Vaughan Wilson (instructed by Mr. Purefoy) appeared for the Royal Bank.

Mr. Justice Johnston said that this was a very serious case.

Mr. Michael Comyn, K.C. (instructed by Mr. P. J. Little, Messrs. Little, O hUadhaigh and Proud), who appeared for Joseph Kennedy and David Hall, said that his clients were only the conduit pipe through which the resolution passed. They had acted in an official capacity, and personally had nothing to do with the resolution. They did not know that what they had done was contempt of Court, and had no intention of interfering with the process of the Court. They expressed their regret, and counsel asked his lordship, having regard to the circumstances, to discharge the conditional order.

Mr. Justice Johnston said that the Court could not allow its judicial work to be transferred to local self-appointed bodies throughout the country. That would be perfectly intolerable, and the Courts had the fullest power to deal very stringently and in a very extreme way with anybody who attempted to oust the jurisdiction of the Courts.

Both Joseph Kennedy and David Hall expressed their regret to the Court, and undertook not to interfere with the sale of the lands concerned in the case, and to do their best to prevent their colleagues from interfering.

Mr. Wilson did not press the motion in view of the undertaking given.

Mr. Justice Johnston said that he would accept the undertaking, and he discharged the conditional order.

Norman Bailey (31), a hardware dealer's assistant, was at Stafford yesterday committed for trial on a charge of murdering his four months' old baby, Janice Elizabeth, on March 24th. Bailey reserved his defence.

SHAREHOLDER'S PETITION.

A SOLVENT AND PROSPEROUS CONCERN.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

In the matter of the Companies (Consolidation) Act, 1908, and Messrs. Fletcher and Phillipson, Ltd., Dublin. Mr Overend, K.C., with whom was Mr. Poole (instructed by Messrs. Carruthers and Gamble), for the petitioner, said that the company was anxious to have the petitioner cross-examined on her affidavit. She was a very old lady. The proceedings did not involve any question of solvency of the firm. It was simply a family matter.

Mr. Molony, K.C., who, with Mr. Maurice Walker (instructed by Messrs. Porter, Morris and Co.), appeared for the company, asked for an adjournment for a fortnight, and said that the petition to wind up the company had affected its credit. The petition had been instituted by a shareholder, and not by a creditor, and there was no suggestion that the company was insolvent or in a precarious condition. On the contrary, it was a solvent and prosperous concern, and the balance sheet regularly disclosed substantial profits, and the company had regularly paid dividends over a long period of years.

The petitioner sought an order dissolving the company in consequence of differences between her and the board in relation to the management and control of the company's affairs. The petition was being strongly resisted by the company, who would ask to have it dismissed. Counsel said that he wanted to make it clear that there was nothing in the proceedings to affect the credit of the company, and that it continued as it had been—a sound and prosperous concern.

The petition was adjourned for a fortnight.

OPENING OF NEW TERM.

The Easter Law Sittings were opened in the Four Courts, Dublin, yesterday, when cases set down for hearing on the opening day of the term came before the judges in their respective courts. The usual meeting of judges and benchers was held in the Benchers' Chambers, and on its conclusion the Chief Justice, Mr. Justice FitzGibbon and Mr. Justice Murnaghan sat in the Supreme Court to hear applications to fix dates for the hearing of appeals. Mr. Justice Meredith and Mr. Justice Johnston each heard a number of motions, and Mr. Justice O'Byrne sat to hear ex parte motions.

William Ladd (70), of Cambridge Lodge, The Moor, Harmondsworth, Middlesex, died yesterday in Hillingdon Infirmary from a gunshot wound in the neck. Mr. Ladd was found early yesterday unconscious in a shed. By his side was a gun, which, it is believed, was accidentally discharged.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

It is announced that an effort is being made to complete the high-power broadcasting station at Athlone so that it will be available for relaying the ceremonies at the Eucharistic Congress in June.—(Page 7.)

The Free State reply to the British Note was unanimously approved by the Executive Council after a sitting which lasted for three hours last night.—(Page 7.)

Mrs. Jane O'Brien was remanded at Wexford yesterday on a charge of having murdered her nephew, John Cousens, at Sanctuary, Killinick, by shooting him on the night of March 26th.—(Page 7.)

On Saturday night a young man named William O'Halloran was fired at and wounded at Ballinruan, near Ennis, Co. Clare, and early on Sunday morning shots were fired through a bedroom window in the town of Kildysart.—(Page 7.)

The employés in the Ford Motor Company's factory at Cork, who went on strike last week on account of a wage "cut," resumed work yesterday, and negotiations for a settlement will proceed.—(Page 5.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

The French Premier left London for Paris after long deliberations between the French and British Ministers on current international problems.—(Page 7.)

The inquest on Mr. Edward Marjoribanks, M.P. for Eastbourne, who was found dead with a gunshot wound in his chest at the residence of Lord Hailsham, was held at Hailsham, Sussex, yesterday.—(Page 8.)

ABROAD.

The question whether the Philippine Islands should be given their independence is again agitating the United States.—(Page 8.)

The annual meeting of the Indian Nationalist Congress is expected to be summoned at Delhi for April 24th, but it is doubtful whether the Government will allow it to take place.—(Page 8.)

SPORTING.

At Warwick yesterday Manvero won the Warwick Spring Handicap.—(Page 10.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were dull, and, with the exception of British Funds, all departments declined.—(Page 3.)

Loan and discount rates were firmer. Gold was higher at 109s. 11d. per oz.—(Page 3.)

Dublin Market was irregular. Free State Funds held firm, and Bank Stock rose to 310. Industrials were all weaker.—(Page 3.)

The Four-Power Conference.

The Four-Power Conference will meet in London to-morrow to deliberate upon the troubles of Central Europe and M. Tardieu's scheme for their solution. Its preface occurred yesterday, when the French Premier and M. Flandin, his Minister for Finance, held conversation with Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Mr. Runciman and Sir John Simon in Downing street. Mr. Macdonald and M. Tardieu have informed all who cared to listen that never in their political experience was any interchange of views characterised by so benignant an atmosphere. Indeed, like affable acquaintances, parting after a genial evening, they have intimated that conversations of this sort must be more frequent, since by these means all the major problems of Europe can be adjusted. Yet the fruits of this meeting amount only to an agreement that "a close and cordial collaboration is essential as between the four Powers who will meet on Wednesday," and to a refusal to anticipate the work of the Four-Power Conference. In other words, Mr. Macdonald has not accepted a position from which he cannot retire. Nobody doubts that France's proposal of a Danubian economic bloc contains the germs of Central Europe's relief; on the other hand, there are aspects of the plan which must give pause to all students of contemporary politics.

M. Tardieu's proposals depend primarily upon the whole-hearted co-operation of Czechoslovakia, whose attitude is governed by two considerations. In the first place, her commercial bias is towards Germany, whose citizens are regular purchasers of her manufactures. Secondly, her political leanings are towards Paris. Indeed, as a member of the Little Entente, she cannot ignore the desires of the Quai d'Orsay. These two tendencies at the moment are rendered virtually hostile by reason of the fact that the French scheme does not include Germany or Italy in its operation. Another difficulty is the exclusion of Bulgaria. Yesterday M. Mushanov, the Bulgarian Premier and Minister for Foreign Affairs, poured cold water on the French plan in no uncertain fashion. "This scheme," he said, "is one of the magnificent ideas which are floating in the air just now." He demands "practical remedies." The western portion of the proposed bloc must be able to continue its trade with Germany unhampered; the south and south-eastern portions must not be cut off from Italian and Balkan markets. Greece's condition to-day, it must be remembered, is little better than that of Austria or Hungary. Moreover, Italy in this regard has decided to consider herself a succession State, and accordingly claims equal trade advantages with the other fragments of the old Hapsburg Empire.

Fortunately, there is reason to believe that this point did not escape notice yesterday. Almost the only positive decisions of the British and French Ministers were that steps must be taken "to concert measures which, while respecting the legitimate interests of third parties, will render possible an economic rapprochement between the Danubian States," and that speed was necessary. In the result, M. Tardieu's anticipatory visit, perhaps, has been a happy prelude to the Four-Power Conference. He has laid his projects fully before the British Ministers, who, having eschewed a too rapid endorsement of them, now will be able to meet the German and Italian delegates with an ampler outlook upon the problem which demands their attention. Britain, less personally involved than the others—though her commitments in Central Europe are very large—will fall into her customary rôle of umpire, and many points requiring nice decisions are certain to arise. Her main duty will be to hold the balance between purely political and purely commercial arguments. "Forewarned," says the proverb, "is forearmed," and Mr. Macdonald, whose grasp of foreign affairs is not unsound, ought to be able to meet every situation with a ready response. M. Tardieu, too, having gauged the temper of the British nation, concerning which Sir John Simon's amenable qualities may have misled him, will be less willing to risk essential success for the sake of exclusively French interests.

Broadcasting Programmes.

The Free State's new high-power broadcasting station is likely to be opened in time for the Eucharistic Congress. By virtue both of her area and status, the Free State is served insufficiently with merely two low-power stations, broadcasting a single programme. If more prosperous citizens, equipped with expensive receiving sets, can select their entertainment from all Europe, such facilities are denied to the poor beyond reach of 2 RN and its satellite at Cork. The new station will be audible over well-nigh the whole area of the Free State. Mechanically, it will be of the highest class; for in technical matters every broadcasting station is sure to be an improvement on its predecessors. We hope that this presumably excellent equipment will receive worthy use. When the Athlone station comes into being, the two existing centres will be discarded, and the Free State will be represented among the countries of the world by only a single station. Clearly, the output of that station must be maintained at the highest possible level. No broadcasting centre in the world is perfect. Any person of taste, looking over the programmes of the British and continental stations, will find innumerable shortcomings in all of them. 2 RN, hitherto, has been no exception to the rule; in fact, it has compared very badly with any of the overseas stations. The major sins of 2 RN are three in number: Its programmes are too short; they are too dull, and they are not on a sufficiently high level either of conception or of execution. Yesterday the Dublin programme covered a period of five hours; the British National lasted for, roughly, 11½ hours, and Belfast, with most of the stations under the British Broadcasting Corporation's control, approximated to that figure. The Berlin stations broadcast for seven hours; Rome, for something over eight hours; Radio-Paris, for about eight hours, and Copenhagen for almost the whole day. The present Dublin programmes, moreover, show a lamentable want of variety. Novelties are few; and there is far too much voice and fiddle in the programmes for a people which, if only by means of the gramaphone, is becoming increasingly familiar with the great European and American orchestras. The Dublin Station orchestra—a capable ensemble in its proper place—is compelled too frequently to attempt works that tax its scanty numbers. All these defects must be remedied, if the Athlone station is to enhance the Free State's international position, and to seduce licence fees from her citizens' pockets. There is no reason why, exercising a monopoly of a nation's talent, it should not set a standard for the broadcasts of other countries.

The Horse's Tragedy.

Last week a consignment of nearly eighty outworn horses arrived in Paris from Argentina—doomed to slaughter at the Vaugirard abattoirs. Their death came swiftly and painlessly from the humane killers which the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has presented to Vaugirard; but their long journey to the place of doom was a horrible affair. The horses left Buenos Aires on February 25th and reached Le Havre on March 24th, but were not landed until March 26th. Some of them were in a deplorable state; most of them were lame; a few suffered from partial paralysis and three were ruptured. The landing lasted from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.; the train left Le Havre at eleven o'clock on the following morning, and arrived at Paris exactly twenty-four hours later, when some of the horses had been entrained for fifty hours. "Not one of them," wrote the Paris Correspondent of The Times, "had been watered, much less fed, during this time, and all were utterly exhausted. Still without food or water, they were driven, tied three abreast, to a dealer's stable." The Correspondent's narrative has aroused anger among decent Frenchmen, and this particular case will be made the subject of strict inquiry. Sir Robert Gower, M.P., chairman of the National Council of the R.S.P.C.A., has gone to Paris, and has been in conference with M. Louis Lepine, deputy president of the Ligue pour la Protection du Cheval. It appears, however, that the abuses prevalent in the old horse traffic with the Argentine and other countries have been brought frequently and vainly before the French Government. We may hope now that French public opinion will insist on the abolition or drastic reform of this appalling traffic. Last week L'Intransigeant reported that ten old horses from Italy, which had been placed in a truck designed for eight, were dead or dying when the train reached Chambéry. Ireland still exports outworn horses for slaughter in France and Belgium, and so long as she tolerates this heartless treatment of old and faithful servants—even under vigilant supervision—her conscience will not be clear.

Witchcraft in Kenya.

The Governor of Kenya has commuted the death sentences passed on sixty Akamba youths, who had been convicted of the murder of a reputed witch. A native woman, who was supposed to have cast a spell on another woman, was seized and, in accordance with tribal custom, was beaten with sticks. Her injuries caused her death. In the face of such evidence the Court was bound to find a verdict of guilty, and the Supreme Court was obliged, on an appeal, to confirm the sentence. We do not suggest that any other course was desirable; for one of the chief problems which confront the authorities among savage tribes is the creation of a respect for law. In this instance, however, the infliction of the sentences would have left among the tribes an almost ineradicable sense of disquiet, since it would have been deemed, however unjustly, to connote the Government's support of witchcraft. The degrees of crime are largely a geographical and ethnic matter. Accordingly, the anomaly which permits this murder to be punished adequately by three years' hard labour in the case of the ringleader and by smaller punishments in the case of the other prisoners, while offences less serious to our European concept demand more drastic penalties, must be condoned. No sensible European to-day, of any nation or faith, would consider that a man deserved persecution because he held religious views different from those of the majority. Yet three hundred years ago such an outlook was general among Christians. The Kenya witch-murder case must be judged in the light of this comparison.

DUBLIN TELEGRAPH STATION.

COMING BACK TO THE GENERAL POST OFFICE.

The Central Telegraph Station, which is at present located in Amiens street, Dublin, will shortly be transferred to its original place in the General Post Office building in O'Connell street, Dublin.

When the General Post Office was burned in 1916 the Amiens street premises were immediately taken over by the telegraph staff and have served their purpose since. Now the engineering staff of the Post Office are engaged in transferring telegraph machinery and putting up equipment in the new central office in Prince's street. It is expected that the arrangements for the transfer will be completed within three or four weeks. The Amiens street premises will then be taken over by another department.

To-morrow the election of thirteen directors will take place.

LONDON LETTER.

CONVERSATIONS.

59 FLEET STREET, LOND[ON]

MONDAY NIGHT.

M. Tardieu, the French Premier, acc[om]panied by M. Flandin, his Minister [for] Finance, arrived in Downing stree[t as] early as ten o'clock this morning, to [re]sume their overnight conversations [with] the Prime Minister and other member[s of] the Cabinet. The proceedings took p[lace] in the Cabinet room, where Mr. Macdo[nald] presided at a long, green cloth-cov[ered] table. In addition to the Minis[ters] taking part in the Conference, there [were] several distinguished personages pres[ent] headed by the Lord Chancellor, and [in]cluding Mr. Baldwin, Sir Herbert Sam[uel] Captain Fitzroy, the Speaker of the Ho[use] of Commons; Sir Maurice Hankey, C[lerk] to the Privy Council, and Sir Robert V[an]sittart, the Permanent Secretary of [the] Foreign Office.

It is suggested that M. Tardieu s[eeks] to revive the Entente Cordiale in or[der] that France and England may w[ork] together to save Europe; and the sugg[es]tion is backed strongly in the Paris ne[ws]papers to-day. Great Britain can scar[cely] be blamed if the Entente, established [by] King Edward, has lost its savour dur[ing] the past years, and it may be accept[ed] that any display of good-will by [our] French neighbours will be reciproca[ted] quickly. It must, however, be a matt[er] of give and take. Official circles in [both] countries realise that a united front [is] essential at Lausanne if any good is [to] come of the Conference, and a frien[dly] understanding must prove of consider[able] value.

The Four-Power Conference.

The entire first floor of Claridge's Ho[tel] will be occupied by the Italian dele[ga]tion to the Four-Power Conference, wh[ich] will open at the Foreign Office on Wedn[es]day. The party of twenty delegates a[nd] secretaries, headed by Signor Dino Grand[i,] Minister for Foreign Affairs, will rea[ch] London to-morrow evening from Ital[y.] Four of the rooms of the hotel were be[ing] converted yesterday into offices for [the] secretaries, and private telephone li[nes] were installed, connecting them with [the] Italian Embassy. Special facilities a[lso] have been arranged for Signor Grandi a[nd] his colleagues to keep in close teleph[one] communication with Rome. Sig[nor] Grandi's principal colleagues will [be] Signor de Michaelis, head of the Itali[an] delegation to the Disarmament Confere[nce,] and Signor Beneduce, an Italian Gove[rn]ment expert who has made an exhaust[ive] study of the Danubian question.

Gloom in the City.

It is somewhat curious that the Eas[ter] holidays have been followed by a wave [of] pessimism in the City of London. O[ne] reason is said to be that industrial [and] trading reports from the North and M[id]lands have lost some of their hopefulne[ss,] while another is the apparent determ[ina]tion of the Germans to persist in [the] restriction on imports of British coal. [It] is probable that these depress[ing] influences are only temporary, sin[ce] reports from trading centres are alm[ost] certain to improve as the spring advanc[es.] Some time, however, may elapse before [the] German coal question is adjusted. [The] doubtful outlook has brought about a f[all] in prices of British Government securit[ies] in view of the rather uncertain outlo[ok,] but the fall causes virtually no alarm [in] the City. British investments, after t[he] experience of the past few months, [still] hold the firmest position in the world.

The French Coinage.

For some time past France has been [a] buyer of silver, and the French Mint h[as] been engaged busily in the manufact[ure] of silver coins to replace the paper mo[ney] now in circulation. The first coins t[o be] issued will be ten-franc pieces, which h[ave] been produced so far to the value of ab[out] £10,000,000, and it is probable that si[lver] coins, with denominations of five fra[ncs] and twenty francs, will be issued in t[he] summer. The question of a gold piece [to] be worth one hundred francs, is under co[n]sideration, but no decision has yet be[en] reached. The coin, if it appears, w[ill] resemble the pre-war twenty franc piece.

Mr. T. L. M. Fuge.

Mr. H. G. Solomon, the Organisi[ng] Secretary for Ireland and Wales of t[he] Royal National Lifeboat Institution, w[ill] retire on the 6th April under the age-li[mit] restriction, after over twenty years in t[he] service of the Institution. He will be s[uc]ceeded in Ireland by Mr. T. L. M. F[uge.] Mr. Fuge was educated at Upping[ham] School and Trinity College, Dublin. [He] was in the British and Indian Army fr[om] 1912 to 1920, serving in Ceylon, India a[nd] Africa through the War, and in t[he] Afghanistan campaign of 1919-20. La[ter] he was attached to the British Embassy [in] Tokyo, and was with the Prince of Wal[es] in Japan during his tour in the Far Ea[st.] From 1922 to 1931 he was engaged [in] business in Ireland, was a director of t[he] Royal Irish Automobile Club, and t[he] official Grand Prix broadcaster in 1930 a[nd] 1931. Mr. Fuge's jurisdiction will exte[nd] to Ireland alone, as a separate organi[ser] has been appointed for Wales.

Empire and Foreign Butter.

Despite the ten per cent. tariff, forei[gn] butter has become cheaper. This fact [is] revealed in the current weekly da[iry] produce notes of the Empire Marketi[ng] Board, in which it is said that the wee[k's] end quotation for Danish butter was 11[...] a hundredweight, while that for best E[m]pire—notably for New Zealand—was 1[...] These figures, as a leading dairy authority says, show the remarka[ble] change in butter prices which has tak[en] place since the Dumping Act came in[to] force. The Danish quotations during t[he] week under review touched the low[est] figure for eight months despite the t[en] per cent. duty, while Empire prices [re]mained the same as they were five we[eks] ago. Danish butter has slumped by 2[...] a cwt., and Dutch by 38s. a cwt. T[he] prices are now only 8s. and 20s. a c[wt.] more than Empire produce, is against t[he] pre-tariff margins of 34s. and 56s.

Holiday Excursions.

Encouraged by the popularity of t[he] excursions arranged during the Eas[ter] holiday, when many of the restrictions [on] the use of cheap tickets were withdra[wn,] the railway companies are preparing [to] give similar facilities at Whitsuntide. [In] one of the excursions already arrange[d is] a half-day trip from London to Sc[ar]borough. Although described as a ha[lf-]day trip, it will occupy over sevente[en] hours, since the departure will be m[ade] at ten o'clock in the morning, and Sc[ar]borough, which is 230 miles away, will [be] reached at three in the afternoon. T[he] return journey will begin at half-past [...] at night, and the trippers will re[ach] London about half-past three the n[ext] morning.

London's "Show Boat."

London is to have a "show boat" of [its] own. A paddle steamer is to be provid[ed] with a restaurant, cabaret, orchestra, a[nd] room for dancing. It will voyage up a[nd] down the river in the evening, and [is] likely to be well patronised, since eve[ry]thing about it will be of the first cla[ss.] It will make two trips every eveni[ng,] starting from and returning to We[st]minster Bridge. The first will be d[own] the river, and the second to Richmo[nd.] Passengers will have to wear even[ing] dress, but it is said that the promot[ers] hope to popularise the continental form [of] "undress evening dress" for men. T[his] consists of white flannel trousers, din[ner] jacket, soft shirt and collar, with a bla[ck] tie. During the War the "show boa[t"] was a troopship, and carried six hund[red] men at a time; but for these luxu[ry] excursions the accommodation will [be] limited to two hundred.

FREE STATE'S REPLY APPROVED.

TO BE SENT TO LONDON TO-NIGHT.

UNANIMOUS DECISION OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

THOUSAND WORDS DESPATCH FOR MR. THOMAS.

THE reply by the Irish Free State Executive Council to the British Note will be sent to London this afternoon.

The final decision of the Executive Council was taken last night, after the draft of the reply had been discussed for three hours at Government Buildings.

When the Executive Council separated, the following official statement was issued to the Press by Mr. Sean Moynihan, the Secretary to the Executive Council:—

"THE DRAFT OF THE PROPOSED REPLY TO THE BRITISH NOTE WAS DISCUSSED AT THE MEETING OF THE CABINET. ALL MINISTERS WERE PRESENT, EXCEPT THE MINISTER FOR LOCAL GOVERNMENT, WHO IS ILL. THE DRAFT WAS APPROVED UNANIMOUSLY, AND IT WILL BE DESPATCHED TO-MORROW AFTERNOON TO MR. J. H. THOMAS, BRITISH SECRETARY OF STATE FOR THE DOMINIONS."

The reply will be sent in a special pouch by the ordinary post, leaving Dublin by the night mail boat. It will go direct to the British Secretary, and not, as was generally thought, to Mr. J. W. Dulanty, the Free State High Commissioner in London. It was Mr. Dulanty who brought the British Note to the Free State Executive Council on March 24th last.

The Cabinet met at eight o'clock in the evening. It was at first understood that the meeting to discuss the reply to the British Note would not be held till to-day, which is the usual date for meetings of the Executive Council.

Last night's meeting was not in the nature of an emergency meeting, but, it is understood, was called finally to consider the reply, so as to have it out of the way for the ordinary meeting to-day, when there is a very full agenda to consider.

The draft reply which was submitted to the Executive Council was based on the "outline" which was approved at Friday night's meeting, and consisted of less than a thousand words.

It has been assumed in some quarters that so specific were the points in the approved "outline" that last night's meeting would have little to do beyond giving it the general approval of the Council. That something more was needed is clear from the fact that the meeting lasted for three hours.

The British Note was received in Dublin on March 24, and was the subject of discussion at several meetings of the Executive Council, where President de Valera expressed and reiterated his contention to abolish the Oath of Allegiance to the King and to retain the land annuities.

Mr. Conor Maguire, K.C., the Attorney-General, was present at last night's meeting of the Council.

No announcement was made as to the nature of the reply, but it is understood that it will reiterate Mr. de Valera's original determination to abolish the Oath of Allegiance and retain the land annuities. Arguments will be advanced to show that neither constitutes a breach of the Treaty, and the reply may intimate that the Free State is not averse to discuss at a conference the question of the land annuities. It is believed that it will be asserted that the question of the Oath is one which essentially concerns the Irish people alone.

It is understood that publication of the correspondence will be made simultaneously in London and Dublin.

AUSTRALIAN CABLE TO MR. DE VALERA.

STANDING BY THE TREATY.

ATTITUDE OF CUMANN NA NGAEDHEAL.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.

CANBERRA, Monday.

The text of the Note sent by the Commonwealth Government to the Government of the Irish Free State was published here to-day. It is as follows:—

"The Commonwealth Government has observed with deep concern the situation which appears to be developing between the British Government and the Irish Free State. Australia, as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations, has co-operated with the Free State and with the other sister Dominions and with the United Kingdom in removing the constitutional difficulties which have arisen upon the development of the altered status of the sister nations within the Commonwealth, and had hoped that, as a result of the Imperial Conferences of 1926 and 1930 and the adoption of the Statute of Westminster by the Governments of the United Kingdom and the Dominions, a position would have been reached where the full co-operation of self-governing peoples under a common Crown would have been achieved.

"That any difference of opinion should arise which would tend to weaken the unity of the British Commonwealth of Nations would be profoundly deplored by the people of Australia. In addition to the many ties which bind Australia to the United Kingdom and her sister Dominions, Australia is proud to number among her citizens a large proportion of people of Irish birth who might be vitally affected by any constitutional change involving their rights and privileges as citizens of a member of a British Commonwealth of Nations.

"In view of these considerations and of the fact that the British Commonwealth of Nations, composed of self-governing peoples with sovereign rights, has been built up by the united efforts and willing co-operation of this great group of sister nations, the Commonwealth Government earnestly hopes that no action will be taken that could endanger the existing unity of the British Commonwealth of Nations and the relationship of the Irish Free State to the sister Dominions and the United Kingdom."

It is understood that the Executive Council of the Free State at its meeting to-day will consider the sending of a reply to the Australian Government.

CANADIAN MINISTER'S VIEW.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

MONTREAL, Monday.

"I am sure the Free State Government will not do anything to impair its standing in the British Commonwealth of Nations."

That view was expressed to-day by Mr. H. H. Stevens, Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce, when he was asked by Reuter's correspondent what he thought about the standing of the Irish Free State delegation at the Ottawa Conference if difficulties arose in connection with the oath of allegiance.

Mr. Stevens was born in Bristol, and came to Canada when he was nine years old.

TWO OUTRAGES IN CLARE.

MAN INJURED BY GUNSHOT.

HOUSE FIRED INTO IN KILDYSART.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

ENNIS, Monday.

DURING the week-end two shooting outrages occurred in Clare—one at Kildysart, where a house was fired into, and another at Ballinruan, within about nine miles of Ennis, where a man was rather seriously injured.

Details obtained in connection with the Ballinruan outrage go to show that the shooting occurred at about eight o'clock on Saturday night. William O'Halloran, the injured man, resides near Bunahow, Crusheen. Some time ago his people bought a farm at Ballinruan, where his mother resides. It is usual for some member of the O'Halloran family to reside with the mother on this outside farm.

MAN WITH A GUN.

On Saturday night William O'Halloran was going to his mother's house, and took a "short cut" across some fields. When about five hundred yards from the house he saw a man coming towards him. The man continued to walk for seven or eight paces, then stood and raised a gun to his shoulder. Immediately O'Halloran heard the report of a shot and felt pellets of shot penetrating his body.

He ran towards his mother's house, and the man with the gun followed him for five or six yards and fired two further shots, which had not any effect. A priest and doctor were summoned, and the injured man received spiritual and medical attention. It was found that about twenty-four pellets of shot had penetrated his right side, hand and chest. His condition, although serious, is not regarded as critical.

COURT IN A BEDROOM.

Subsequently Superintendent Casey, of Ennis, and Sergeant Moran, of Crusheen, visited the scene, and a young man named Michael O'Halloran, of Ballinruan, was arrested and charged with the attempted murder of William O'Halloran. A special court was held by District Justice Gleeson in the bedroom of the injured man on Sunday evening.

After formal evidence of arrest had been given by Sergeant Moran, the injured man made a deposition, and the accused man was remanded in custody to the next District Court at Ennis.

The O'Hallorans are cousins, and both are in the early twenties and are farmers' sons.

It is stated that the shooting has no political significance.

THE SECOND OUTRAGE.

SHOTS THROUGH A WINDOW.

The shooting at Kildysart occurred about 3 o'clock on Sunday morning. Three shots were fired by an unknown person or persons through a bedroom window on the upper floor of Patrick Cahill's two-storey house. The bedroom was unoccupied at the time. Cahill is a married man, aged about 50 years.

As in the Ballinruan case, no political significance is attached to the outrage. This house was previously the subject of an attack.

So far no arrests have been made.

"WAR PREPARATIONS" IN SIBERIA.

SIGNIFICANT MOVEMENTS.

Allegations of "war preparations" by Soviet Russia are being made in the local Press at Harbin, Manchuria, reports Reuter's Correspondent. It is stated that aeroplanes, tanks and armoured cars are being transported across Siberia, and that reinforcements are arriving at the military bases in the Primorsky district. The inhabitants of all the large towns are said to be receiving instruction in the use of gas masks, and special training in connection with aerial and gas attacks.

Locomotives and wagons are still being sent into Russia via Manchuli and Pogranitchnaya by the Chinese Eastern Railway, and it is now reported from the Eastern Line that several movable cranes have also been forwarded into Russia. The evacuation of this rolling stock is considered to be one of the most significant features of recent events in this territory, as it is regarded as tending to confirm that Soviet Russia considers a war with Japan is possible.

The Japanese delegation at Geneva, in a note to the Secretary-General of the League, denies the Chinese allegation that the Japanese authorities have taken measures to seize the Customs revenue of Manchuria, or are insisting on appointments to the Customs staff, and declares that all these questions are within the competence of the Manchurian Government. The report of a proposed Customs union between Japan and Manchuria is also denied.

THREE CARS IN COLLISION.

FIVE PERSONS INJURED NEAR SWORDS.

At least five persons were injured as the result of three motor cars colliding a short distance from Swords at midnight on Sunday night last.

It seems that two of the motor cars were going north and the other south when the collision took place. On reaching the scene the Civic Guards found the cars in the ditch. They stopped passing motor cars and had some of the injured removed to St. Vincent's Hospital and Monkstown Hospital.

Included among the injured are: Mr. N. A. Sunner, of Eden place, Monkstown, Co. Dublin, who is detained in Monkstown Hospital suffering from an injured knee and bruises to the face; two sisters, the Misses E. and G. Wright, of Belvedere road, Drumcondra, who were removed to St. Vincent's Hospital suffering from slight injuries and shock; Miss E. Wright was detained and her sister was allowed to go home after treatment, and Mr. Jack Morgan (29), of Lusk, Co. Dublin, who was detained in St. Vincent's Hospital suffering from slight injuries.

The cars were slightly damaged, and the Civic Guards are trying to trace the other people who may have been involved in the accident.

INDIAN DELEGATES FOR OTTAWA.

DECISIONS TO BE SUBMITTED TO LEGISLATURE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW DELHI, Monday.

That any changes in tariffs that may be recommended by the Indian delegation at the forthcoming Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa will be subject to the approval of the Indian Legislature was made clear to-day in the Legislative Assembly by Sir George Rainy, the leader of the House, when announcing the Government of India's acceptance of the invitation to Ottawa.

Eucharistic Broadcast Contemplated.

HIGH-POWER STATION TO BE COMPLETED.

THE work of erecting the new high-power broadcasting station at Athlone is to be speeded up. It is, in fact, to be ready and in actual operation before the Eucharistic Congress opens at Dublin in June next. Important addresses by Prelates of the Roman Catholic Church and other high dignataries, delivered in connection with the Congress, will be transmitted from the new station, and the whole world will hear Irish voices on the ether.

The speeding up of the work is due to the Minister for Posts and Telegraphs, who, sensing the importance and advantages of having the station complete before the Congress, has given instructions that every ounce of effort must be put into the task, so that what ordinarily would take six months to do may be done in less than three months.

The Minister explains his attitude and intention in the following official statement, which was issued from Government Buildings, Dublin, yesterday:—

"The Thirty-first International Eucharistic Congress, to be held in Dublin in June of this year, is an event of outstanding interest and importance to the world at large and to Ireland in particular. It is manifestly most desirable that the resources of modern scientific attainments, such as broadcasting, should be utilised to the full to enable the world at large to participate actually, and not in the spirit only, in the inspiring religious ceremonies of the Congress.

FOR THE MILLION.

"It is generally known, of course, that a high-power broadcasting station at Athlone is in course of erection, but at the usual rate of progress for works of this kind the station would not be completed until the autumn, and the broadcast of the ceremonies that will be given by the present Dublin and Cork stations could reach only a fraction of our own people here at home, and could not attempt to cater for the millions who are interested in the ceremonies.

"The Minister for Posts and Telegraphs has given this matter very close consideration since he took up office, and has decided that the advantages of broadcasting the Eucharistic Congress ceremonies from our own high-power station are such as to justify every possible effort to do so being made. His inquiries have satisfied him that, by careful organisation and the fullest co-operation of all concerned, the very considerable task of endeavouring, in three months to do what was scheduled to take six months, can almost certainly be achieved. In undertakings of this magnitude there is always the possibility of an unforeseen and unforeseeable hitch taking place, but the Minister is satisfied that the likelihood of this is remote, and accordingly he has given instructions that the work be carried on with all possible speed.

"The arrangements depending on this decision have already been made; the building is being pushed ahead with the utmost speed, the erection of the masts will commence immediately, the electrical equipment is packed and awaiting the word that shelter is available for it, and given reasonably good weather between now and June, there is every hope that the ceremonies of the Eucharistic Congress will be broadcast from our own high-power station.

"Very special steps are being taken in the effort to do this, and the station will, of course, not be ready for continuous work after the Congress, as a good deal of finishing-off work will have to be done at leisure when the immediate urgency for completion no longer exists."

INDIAN NATIONALISTS' CONFERENCE

WILL GOVERNMENT LET IT BE HELD?

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BOMBAY, Monday.

Political circles are speculating as to whether the Government of India will allow the annual meeting of the Indian National Congress, which is due to take place this month, to be held this year.

It is understood that it is now the intention to summon the Congress to meet at Delhi on April 24th, and that the veteran Nationalist leader, Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, who attended the India Round-Table Conference in London last autumn, is to preside.

It is pointed out in political circles that the Government have not yet declared the Congress itself to be an unlawful association, but the belief is expressed that they will prohibit the annual session.

Retaliatory measures by Moslems against Hindus are threatened by Maulana Shaukat Ali, the Moslem leader, in a letter to Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, the Congress leader, if the boycott against a Bombay Moslem firm is not withdrawn.

Maulana Shaukat Ali urges Mrs. Naidu to use her influence with Congress so that the country may be spared the terrible scenes of strife and fighting which naturally result from such "rash and bullying action."

LESS UNEMPLOYMENT IN BRITAIN.

IMPROVEMENT IN MANY TRADES.

The Secretary to the British Ministry of Labour announces that it is estimated that at the 21st March, 1932, there were approximately 9,439,000 insured persons, aged 16-64, in employment in Great Britain. This was 146,000 more than a month before, and 166,000 more than a year before.

The improvement during the past month affected most of the principal industries of the country. It was especially marked in the building, coal-mining, and cotton and wool textile industries, textile bleaching, finishing, etc., tailoring, the construction and repair of motor vehicles, cycles, and aircraft, general engineering, metal goods manufacture, the pottery industry, and the distributive trades.

On the other hand, there was a small set-back in the boot and shoe industry and docks and harbour services.

At 21st March, 1932, the numbers of unemployed persons on the registers of employment exchanges in Great Britain were 2,042,444 wholly unemployed, 422,676 temporarily stopped, and 102,212 normally in casual employment, making a total of 2,567,332.

This was 133,841 less than the number on the registers at 22nd February, 1932, and 12,786 less than a year before.

After the body of a man had been seen floating yesterday in the outer harbour at Lowestoft by Mr. C. S. Eltaugh, a former stationmaster, it was identified as that of William Starling, aged 85, for some years stationmaster at Ely, who had been living with his son at Lowestoft since his retirement.

KILLED BY TRIBESMEN

R.A.F. SERGEANT FROM COUNTY DOWN.

While piloting an aeroplane engaged in reconnaissance in co-operation with a column of the Iraq Army, Sergeant Herbert Victor Hudson (No. 363135), of No. 30 B Squadron, Royal Air Force, was killed by gunfire from tribesmen on the ground.

Aircraftsman Thomas Frank Merrick (No. 560932A), the other occupant of the 'plane, was slightly wounded.

Sergeant Hudson's home was in County Down, while Corporal Merrick came from Weymouth.

WEXFORD MAN SHOT.

AUNT CHARGED WITH MURDER.

PROTEST AGAINST "CHICAGO METHODS."

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

WEXFORD, Monday.

THE preliminary investigation into the charge against Mrs. Jane O'Brien of having murdered her nephew, John Cousins, at Sanctuary, Killinick, County Wexford, on the night of March 26th, was opened at Wexford this evening before Mr. H. A. MacCarthy, Barrister-at-Law, Acting District Justice.

Five witnesses were examined for the State, after which the further hearing was adjourned till Monday next.

Mr. F. J. Kelly, State Solicitor, conducted the case for the State, and Mr. Fintan M. O'Connor, solicitor (Messrs. M. J. O'Connor and Co.) appeared for the accused.

HEARD A SHOT.

James O'Reilly, a farmer, of Ballysheen, who walked home with John Cousins on the night of March 26th from Killinick, said that soon after he parted with Cousins at his gate he heard a shot, and, turning round, saw Cousins running towards him. He said: "Jem, I'm shot." The witness brought him to Rowe's gate, and then went for assistance. When he got back Cousins had been removed.

Joanna Moran, Killinick, said that on her way home from church on the evening of March 25 she heard a noise inside Cousins's gate, and saw the accused woman there. She had something in her hand, but the witness could not say what it was.

Guard James Grimes said that when he arrived on the scene Cousins was alive, and he assisted in having him removed to hospital.

THE SEARCH OF THE HOUSE.

Chief Superintendent McCarthy deposed that he was handed at the house of the deceased man by John O'Brien, a son of the accused, a hand-saw, which bore traces of having been recently used. He condoled with the accused on the loss of her nephew, and asked her to give all the particulars that she knew about him. She said that she would, and Sergeant Hanly took down the statement from her. He assisted in the taking of statements from other people, after which he returned to the house at 8.15 p.m. The accused, her son and some people were in the house. He spoke to the accused after ordering the Guards to leave the room.

Mr. O'Connor objected to the admission of any statements by the accused, and asked to have his objection noted.

A CAUTION.

Proceeding, the witness stated that he told Mrs. O'Brien that he had reason to suspect that the gun which was used in the murder of her nephew was in the house, and that before she answered any questions in connection with the gun and the murder he would like her to consider her answers very carefully, as anything that she said might be used in evidence against her. He asked her about the gun that murdered John Cousins. She replied: "The gun that murdered John Cousins? I never saw a gun in the house with John Cousins or anybody. I tell you there is no gun here. Sure you can search the house again. My God, you don't say that I know anything about the murder of poor John Cousins?"

The witness then said: "Very well then; go up to your room with your son as I am about to make a minute search of all the rooms, and I will see you again later. He directed a sergeant and one of the Guards to accompany Mrs. O'Brien to her room. He and Sergeant Hanly then searched the house and lastly entered Mrs. O'Brien's room. He asked the Guards and her son to go downstairs.

"THE THIRD DEGREE."

As the witness proceeded to relate the question that he put to the accused concerning the gun which he stated had been used in the murder of her nephew, Mr. O'Connor objected, and commenting upon the procedure adopted by the witness, remarked that it was the nearest approach to the American "Third Degree" method that he heard of.

The Acting Justice, addressing Mr. Kelly, said that it struck him as cross-examining.

Mr. O'Connor—The Chief Superintendent says to Mrs. O'Brien: "I know the gun is here; produce it." That is all right in Chicago, but it is not allowed in this country.

Mr. Kelly—He said: "The gun is here; I ask you to produce it." It was a simple request. I do not see anything wrong with the question. There was no command about it. He could have turned up the bed himself and taken out the gun.

A FURTHER PROTEST.

Mr. O'Connor—That is a very nice way of putting it. The procedure carried out by the Chief Superintendent I hold to be bordering on a most irregular form of cross-examination of a person charged with murder, which I suggest deliberately sets a trap for this unfortunate woman to have a rope put around her neck.

Mr. Kelly—Mr. O'Connor thinks that he is addressing a jury. His remarks might be all right if he were addressing a jury, but to address them to your worship I think is a bit of an insult.

Acting Justice—I do not consider that.

Mr. O'Connor—And I do not intend that.

The Acting Justice said that he had intended to rise at six o'clock. It was then ten minutes to six, and he would rise to consider the question raised, which was a very important one.

Mr. Kelly—As I said in addressing a jury, Mr. O'Connor's remarks might be fair cricket, but it is not fair in a case like this to try and prejudice the hearing by describing the evidence as that of Chicago.

Acting Justice—We are a long way from Chicago here.

Mr. O'Connor—I suggest we should not get nearer to it.

Chief Superintendent McCarthy—Thank you.

The further hearing was adjourned for a week.

FRANK TALKS WITH FRANCE.

ADJUSTMENT OF VIEWS ON EUROPE'S GRAVE PROBLEMS.

COLLABORATION OF GERMANY AND ITALY ESSENTIAL.

MONSIEUR TARDIEU, the French Premier, left London last night on his return to Paris, following day-long deliberations with British Ministers on the problems besetting Europe and the world.

Both M. Tardieu and Mr. Macdonald agreed that the new method of approaching European problems had so much to commend it that it ought to be adopted again.

The chief, but not the only, subject discussed was the economic and financial difficulties in the Danubian States, and in this connection it was made clear that there was no desire on either side to exclude any State for political reasons. The only consideration was economic relationship.

The Ministers of the two countries were of opinion that the problems which they examined could only be solved by general agreements of an international character, and that for this purpose "a close and cordial collaboration" is essential as between the four Powers whose representatives will meet in conference on Wednesday.

ESTABLISHMENT OF CONFIDENCE.

THE following communiqué was issued from 10 Downing street last night:—

"The French and British Ministers met at 10 Downing street from 10 o'clock till 1 o'clock, and from 2.30 p.m. until 5 p.m. There were present the Prime Minister, M. Tardieu, M. Flandin, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the President of the Board of Trade.

"The discussion bore chiefly on the economic and financial difficulties with which the Danubian States are faced.

"The Ministers of the two countries were of the opinion that the problems to be examined can only be solved by general agreements of international character, and that for this purpose a close and cordial collaboration is essential as between the four Powers whose representatives meet in conference on Wednesday.

"In view of the impending meeting of this conference the French and British Ministers did not attempt to reach any conclusions, but are convinced that by thus comparing and explaining their respective points of view they will have helped forward the work of the conference.

PRELIMINARY EXPLORATION.

"The British and French Governments share the hope that it may be possible speedily to concert measures which, while respecting the legitimate interests of third parties, will render possible an economic rapprochement between the Danubian States and facilitate the establishment of conditions calculated to restore the equilibrium and the stability of this part of Europe."

Mr. Macdonald, who appeared somewhat tired but cheerful, said: "The discussion was very cordial. There were important points involved which require further immediate examination, but if this preliminary exploration had not taken place it might have held up the conference for perhaps a couple of days.

"The exchange of views which took place to-day means that we understand each other perfectly, and we are determined in every way to work to get an agreement at the Four-Power Conference. We recognise the somewhat different angle from which, perhaps, one or other of the other States will approach the problems, but we are quite convinced that an agreement comprehensive of all interests is possible.

"I hope that one of the big things that will come out of the Four-Power Conference will be the establishment of a real confidence between the four of us; that we can in singleness of heart and the best of good-will begin together to tackle problem after problem that will have to be faced in the course of the summer."

VALUED PRIVATE TALKS.

M. Tardieu's impressions were conveyed in the following terms:—"We had a long talk, and I am very happy to be able to say that it was extremely objective, frank and cordial. The conversations took place in a very good and pleasant atmosphere. I have had a long experience of international meetings, but I have never carried away with me a better impression of the cordial spirit of a meeting than I have brought with me to-day from Downing street."

The Ministers have had many opportunities of private conversations—at the dinner at the French Embassy on Sunday night, at lunch at Downing street yesterday, at dinner at Londonderry House last night, and on other occasions—and it is understood that full use has been made of these non-official opportunities. It is understood that both the Prime Minister and Mr. Runciman have exchanged views with the French Ministers on trade matters.

No attempt is made in authoritative quarters to minimise the importance of the opportunities afforded by the private gatherings. It is believed that there is no problem of concern to the two Governments that has not been the subject of a personal and helpful conversation since M. Tardieu and M. Flandin arrived in London on Sunday afternoon.

It is hoped that there will be no delay in reaching agreement at the Four-Power Conference, because of the grave risk of one or other of the Danubian countries becoming involved in a crash. There will, of course, have to be a subsequent agreement among the Danubian countries, and the Council of the League of Nations has also to meet next week to receive the financial report which has just been issued.

OTHER PROBLEMS.

PARIS FAVOURABLY IMPRESSED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Monday.

The effect on Paris of the reports from London has been definitely favourable, and that sensitive barometer, the Bourse, promptly marked "set fair."

According to the Temps, the subjects under discussion, in addition to the Danubian Plan, were naval disarmament, an attempt being made to conclude the agreement which has lain on the stocks since April, 1930, presaging a subsequent agreement with Italy; Customs tariffs; a proposal for the opening of negotiations regarding the new British tariffs without waiting for the Ottawa Conference; reparations and war debts; a comparison of the British and French view-points on the Lausanne Conference; prolongation of the moratorium granted to Germany, and the possibility of representations to Washington.

This programme is too vast to admit of final decisions in twenty-four hours, and the Débats is well advised to warn the French public against excessive hopes of practicable results.

BULGARIA SCEPTICAL.

TARIFFS BLAMED FOR THE ROT.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

SOFIA, Monday.

M. Mushanov, the Bulgarian Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, in an interview with Reuter's Correspondent to-day on the Danubian Plan, said that this scheme is one of the magnificent ideas which are floating in the air just now; but such ideas rarely came to any practicable realisation, and the need of the moment is for practicable remedies; for the people cannot be fed on high ideas.

"The Great Powers have not yet agreed even as to the theoretical basis of the scheme. The Danubian States themselves are not too keen on the idea. Bulgaria is in a difficult position; if we get no assistance we shall be unable to pay either holders of our bonds or business men who have current accounts with our traders.

"If an agreement is made with the bondholders we can at least carry on our trade with foreign countries—to mutual advantage. Something must be done, however, to improve material conditions. There was talk of pan-Europe, of abolishing economic frontiers; but instead every country has raised still higher barriers around itself than ever before.

"Europe has been thrown back a century by these hindrances to foreign trade. Yet statesmen are wanting with sufficient courage to take proper measures to stop the rot in time."

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

THE TASKS AHEAD.

In a leading article The Times to-day states:—The House of Commons reassembles to-day to begin that part of the present session which will include the Budget for 1932-33. No member of Parliament or of the public should be under any illusion as to the tremendous difficulty of the task which lies ahead. A nation faced with the prospect of an expenditure, exclusive of expenditure upon the Post Office, of well over £750,000,000 has no reason to doubt that finance remains the main business of the House of Commons, and every reason to anticipate that the task of lightening so colossal a burden will not be easy.

The measures taken by the Government, adds The Times, have been successful in restoring world-wide confidence in the determination of this country to pay its way, and to that extent have averted the danger of an uncontrolled inflation which would have involved even heavier demands upon the taxpayer, and infinitely greater hardship upon all who suffered from the cuts. But it would be folly to imagine that a six months' effort towards solvency, following upon years of drift towards insolvency, has completely restored the situation, and to expect that the forthcoming Budget can reflect any dramatic relief for the taxpayer, still less any reduction of the efforts already made to effect economies.

THE TAXPAYERS' BURDEN.

The House of Commons will receive warning of this fact to-day, when the financial resolution authorising the continuance until July, 1933, of the present system of transitional payments is presented. The resolution means that, until the specified date, all applicants for unemployment benefit who have not paid the necessary contributions, or who have drawn benefit for twenty-six weeks in an insurance year, will have to show that they require relief before obtaining it. The system is not pleasant, either for the applicants or for the local authorities who have to deal with them, but it has an unchallengeable moral and material justification.

The over-riding conclusion, proceeds The Times, which must govern consideration, both of concessions to those affected by the cuts and of the grant of relief to the taxpayer, is that, so far as can be foreseen, it would be quite unsafe for Mr. Chamberlain to budget for a large surplus on the existing basis of taxation, at least, until he can be far more certain of the course of events. It is difficult to see how, in the Budget to be opened on April 19, Mr. Chamberlain will be able to do much for the overburdened taxpayer.

A VICTIM OF OVERWORK.

INQUEST VERDICT ON SHOT M.P.

A VERDICT of suicide while not of sound mind was returned at the inquest at Hailsham yesterday on Mr. Edward Marjoribanks, M.P. for Eastbourne, who was found shot dead in the billiards room of Carter's Corner Place, Hailsham, the residence of Viscount Hailsham, on Saturday.

The East Sussex Coroner, Dr. E. F. Hoare, conducted the inquiry in a room at Carter's Corner Place.

Mr. Marjoribanks, who was 32, was a stepson of Lord Hailsham and heir-presumptive to Lord Tweedmouth. He was regarded as one of the most promising of the younger Conservative members of the House of Commons.

He arrived at Carter's Corner Place on Thursday to spend the week-end there.

Lord Hailsham, giving evidence, said: "I saw my stepson in London on March 24th. He told me then he was very worried, and I asked him to come down and stay. He said that he had to go to Paris that afternoon, but might come when he returned.

"On Wednesday, March 30, he telephoned and said he had returned the previous day and was still very ill and unhappy, and had hardly slept for a fortnight. A doctor had been attending him and giving him sleeping draughts."

The Coroner—Did you ask him to come down to Hailsham?—Yes; but he was very vague about it. Later on in the evening my son, Quintin, telephoned to say that he was with Edward, that he was very unwell, and that the servants and doctor were alarmed by his condition.

Continuing his evidence, Lord Hailsham said: "I arranged with Quintin that they should come on Thursday, the 31st ult."

The Coroner—Did they come?—Yes; they both motored down and got here on Thursday evening. Quintin returned to London on Friday and Edward was left behind.

The Coroner—How was he?—He was in a state of acute depression, unable to sleep, and in great mental upset.

"On the Thursday night he had a sleeping draught, but said that he did not sleep.

STATE OF MISERY.

"On the Friday he was in a state of great misery and dejection, and I feared a nervous breakdown. I thought that the only thing for him was to stay here quietly and then go on the sea voyage.

"On the Saturday he seemed to be a little better and came down at 9.30. He said that he had slept a little, but still had a splitting headache.

"At 11.15 a.m.," added Lord Hailsham, "I went to see my wife off. Edward came out with a stick, but returned to get a hat because he was afraid of neuralgia."

The Coroner—Did you see him again?—I did not see him again until I found him in the billiard room at four o'clock.

In a further answer to the Coroner, Lord Hailsham said that Mr. Marjoribanks had been overworking for some time past.

P. C. Tiffin said that at five o'clock on Saturday he saw Mr. Marjoribanks. He was sitting in a chair in the corner of the billiard room, and was dead.

"He was fully dressed in an ordinary lounge suit. There was a wound on the left side of the chest. Immediately behind where he was sitting was the gun-room. The door of it was open. In the gun-room I found a double-barrelled gun lying on the floor."

The Coroner—Were there any cleaning rags about?—No; there was no sign of the gun having been cleaned. The gun-press was open and cartridges were lying about.

Dr. Percy Vosper, of Hailsham, stated that he found Mr. Marjoribanks sitting in a chair dead. There was a wound in the left chest wall about the size of a shilling. The cause of death was hemorrhage of the lungs as the result of a gunshot wound. The heart was not touched.

The Coroner—Is there any indication from the nature of the wound that it was caused accidentally or intentionally?—The direction of the wound does not indicate anything.

CORONER'S OBSERVATION.

The Coroner said:—"I find myself forced to the conclusion that Mr. Marjoribanks committed this act himself. I am afraid one can take no other view.

"Coming to the state of his mind, there is not a shadow of doubt from the history of the last few days that when he did this act he certainly did not appreciate the character or nature of the act.

"I, therefore, record a verdict of suicide while not of sound mind."

The Coroner pointed out that the words "not of sound mind" were the words laid down in the Coroners Act, which did not use the words "temporary insanity," and he trusted the words "temporary insanity" would not be used in reports of the case.

He had heard the history of a very brilliant man who was over sensitive and temporarily lost control of his reason. His mind became deranged, and he did this act not knowing what he was doing. That was a very different thing from saying that he was insane, or temporarily insane, or using any words which would indicate that he was subject to mental disease.

"I cannot protest too strongly against the use of the words 'temporarily insane,'" the Coroner added.

"There is no such thing in law and medical fact. The words, 'not of sound mind' do not imply, and were never intended to imply, any mental disease in the true sense of insanity.

"I can only add my personal sympathy and regret with Lord Hailsham, and voice the feeling, which, I think, is the feeling of the whole country, in the loss which the county and the country have suffered by the very terrible end of this brilliant and promising young man."

DEPUTATIONS TO MINISTERS.

REQUEST TO RE-OPEN A CREAMERY.

Dr. James Ryan, the Free State Minister for Agriculture, yesterday received a deputation representing the suppliers of the Alton (County Limerick) Creamery, who asked that the creamery should be re-opened. The Dairy Disposals Board had recommended that this creamery be closed, and the deputation pointed out the adverse consequences of such action.

The Minister promised to consider the matter, and give a decision at an early date. The deputation included Mr. T. Crowley, T.D.; the Rev. Father Kennedy, C.C., Knocklong, and Mr. P. J. Cleary, Alton.

The Minister for Agriculture also received a deputation, headed by the Right Rev. Dean Ryan, Cashel, representing a Cashel group of creameries, in connection with securing a settlement regarding the amalgamation of the Cashel and Balladuff creameries.

The Minister expressed the hope that the dispute would be settled amicably, and he promised to give his support in this direction.

The other members of the deputation were:—Messrs. T. Duggan, C. Heffernan, M. Farrell, E. D. Ryan, Traynor, Gleeson, O'Mahony and Doyle.

HOME MARKETING OF BUTTER.

PROPOSED SCHEME EXPLAINED.

PROCURING BENEFITS OF THE TARIFF.

A BOOKLET has just been published in Dublin, under the auspices of the Irish Creamery Managers' Association, dealing with the proposed scheme for the home-marketing of Free State creamery butter.

In an introduction to the booklet it is stated that the scheme was undertaken by the Managers' Association for the purpose of evolving proposals which, if adopted, would enable the butter industry to secure for its members whatever advantages may be obtained by the tariff. Referring to the need for better organisation in the industry and the tariff, it is stated that a regrettable feature, from the point of view of the creameries, is that a large number of outsiders who cold stored large stocks of creamery butter have reaped a substantial benefit. If the proposed scheme had been in operation last year this would not have occurred, and the home farmers would have reaped the benefit. As soon as there is an exportable surplus of creamery butter, it is stated, the price of butter in the Free State will drop to the price of Colonial butter on the British market, and this would be very serious for all concerned.

"It is up to the industry to be as solicitous in looking after its own welfare and prosperity as are other sectional interests, and to arrange matters so that it can in the home market, at least, have reasonable benefits from the tariff. This can readily be done as far as the creamery butter prices are concerned, if the I.C.M.A. scheme is put into operation."

It is suggested that if something is not done about the matter before the 1st June next merchants and others will by that time begin to acquire supplies of butter for cold storage.

It is claimed that the successful working of the scheme would mean an extra half million pounds for the creamery butter industry in the Free State, and the outlay in collecting the half million pounds would not be one per cent. The operation of the scheme would eliminate destructive competition in the home market, and would contribute to the more orderly marketing of the exportable surplus. Some creameries could concentrate on the export market and others on the home market; speculative cold storing, with all its risks and dangers, would be eliminated.

SALES CONTRACT.

Dealing with the scheme itself the booklet states that the creameries will continue to sell to whoever they please, but they must contract not to sell in the Free State at a price below that fixed as the home price. If any creamery should break this contract that creamery would be obliged to remit the difference between the home price and the sale price to the Irish Creamery Managers' Association. The contract will be terminable by three months' notice, and the majority of the creameries could have the scheme abolished.

Mr. E. C. Semple, Secretary of the Irish Creamery Managers' Association, in a letter issued from the Association's offices, 32 Kildare street, Dublin, last August, said that so long as the present butter tariff was maintained he estimated that under the scheme at least £300,000 could be put into the Free State dairy farmers' pockets annually.

The committee elected to operate the scheme and to fix prices would consist of five persons—viz., two to represent the co-operative creameries, one from the Dairy Disposal Company's creameries and the Proprietary Creameries, and the Central Secretary of the Irish Creamery Managers' Association.

Among other conditions governing the scheme are that the Free State price would be fixed weekly or more often by the Committee. There will also be an official export price. On each Saturday of the week each contracting creamery would send to the secretary of the Association a full statement of stocks of butter on hands and of all the butter sold in the home market. On receipt of these records the Association would calculate what each creamery should have to remit. If disputes arose in connection with the working of the scheme the decision of the elected committee would be final.

LINDBERGH BABY TRAIL.

FATHER'S MYSTERIOUS MISSION.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Monday.

The visit of a red amphibian 'plane yesterday to the tiny village of Cutty Hunk Island (Buzzard's Bay, Massachusetts) has caused great excitement among the inhabitants Three of the four occupants came ashore, and two fishermen of whom they made inquiries state positively that one of these was Colonel Lindbergh himself.

The men stayed several hours, and made numerous inquiries about a yacht which was lying near by off Pekinese Island.

The amphibian then took off and flew low over the yacht, and the observer appeared to be trying to identify it or to drop a message.

In corroboration of the theory that one of the men on board was Colonel Lindbergh attempting to get in touch with the kidnappers, there comes the news from the Lindbergh estate that for the first time since the kidnapping over a month ago Colonel Lindbergh on Saturday night left his home on an unexplained trip, from which he returned towards midnight last night.

Major Schoeffel, the Assistant Chief of the New Jersey Police, who arrived in England on Sunday, had an interview with Lord Trenchard, the London Commissioner of Police, yesterday. While at Scotland Yard he saw the heads of the Criminal Investigation Department and received letters of introduction to Chief Constables in charge of the areas in which he is to make inquiries. Inquiries which were made in England as a result of a cablegram sent a month ago by the American police regarding the Lindbergh case concerned Birmingham and Glasgow, and it is understood that Major Schoeffel will visit both these cities.

THE TAILORING TRADE.

Members of the Dublin Master Tailors' Association yesterday asked the Free State Minister for Industry and Commerce to extend them exemption from duty on certain classes of cloths required for the better class tailoring and luxury trade.

The deputation, is is understood, pointed out that some cloths, such as that used in riding breeches, hunting coats, and certain kinds of overcoats are not manufactured in the Free State, and tariffs, if imposed on such cloths, would affect the high-class tailoring trade in the Free State, if customers thought it desirable to purchase this particular cloth in London or elsewhere.

The question of multiple shops, it was understood, was also referred to, and the deputation made it clear that they were not opposed to duties on ready-made clothing, or on woollens that can be manufactured in the Free State.

The deputation included Messrs. W. Scott, F. J. Richie, W. Conan, E. J. McWilliam and J. B. Johnston.

LOCAL TAXATION ACCOUNTS.

RETURNS FOR THE YEAR 1929-30.

THE system of Local Government operating in the Irish Free State is explained in an official document dealing with the returns of local taxation for the year 1929-30, which was released for publication last night in Dublin. The book covers the entire field, explaining variations where they occur, principally in relation to bodies such as the Dublin and Cork Corporations, which for a time were superseded by City Commissioners, and also in relation to bodies which were abolished and have not yet been restored to their former position.

The number of cities and towns under municipal Governments is eighty-six, of which ten are boroughs under the Municipal Corporations (Ireland) Act, 1840; seventy-four have been constituted under the Towns Improvement (Ireland) Act, 1854, and two under local Acts. Four of the ten boroughs—Cork, Dublin, Limerick and Waterford—are county boroughs, and sixty-five of the total number are urban sanitary districts.

For 1929-30 the rateable valuation of the boroughs and urban districts amounted to £2,886,118, and of the towns which are not urban districts to £108,127, making a total of £2,994,245.

TOTAL NET RECEIPTS.

The net receipts of local bodies for local government purposes in the financial year 1929-30, excluding Government grants; amounts received by local bodies from one another; sums raised by way of loans, and receipts from gas and electricity undertakings amounted to £6,292,999

The amount derived from local sources was supplemented by payments from the Local Taxation Account, Road Fund, etc., to the extent of £2,373,568, exclusive of a sum of £83,433 applied to capital purposes by County Borough and Urban District Councils. On an average the grants, including grants from the Road Fund (but excluding the Agricultural Grant in relief of rates on agricultural land) were equivalent to rates of 1s. 11d. and 2s. 1d. in the £, respectively, on the rateable valuation of (a) Counties (including Urban Districts, and (b) County Boroughs. In the rural areas of the counties the agricultural grant in relief of rates on agricultural land amounts to £1,198,022, and is equivalent to a flat rate of 3s. 4d. in the £ on the valuation of agricultural land. In the financial year 1931-32 the Government provided an additional grant of £750,000 in relief of rates on agricultural land.

REVENUE EXPENDITURE.

The net revenue expenditure of local bodies, excluding expenditure on gas and electricity undertakings, was as follows:—

County Councils	£3,821,351
Boards of Health and Rural District Councils	679,305
Boards of Assistance and Boards of Guardians	1,682,708
County Borough Councils	1,672,727
Urban District Councils	695,355
Town Commissioners	15,465
Joint Drainage Boards	14,114
Joint Hospital Boards	13,581
Joint Burial Boards	6,959
Port Sanitary Authorities	1,437
Total	8,603,002

The expenditure in the cases of County Councils and County Borough Councils includes sums of £559,168 and £129,819, respectively, advanced to Mental Hospital Committees. A summary of the expenditure of the Committees amounting to £834,971 is included in the report of the Inspector of Mental Hospitals for the year ended 31st March, 1930.

LOCAL INDEBTEDNESS.

As in the previous year there was delay on the part of some local bodies in discharging their liabilities, especially as between one local authority and another. In some instances the balances due on foot of demands of county councils upon urban district councils and of boards of health and public assistance on county councils were authorised for payment within the financial year, and regarded as expenditure applicable to that year, but the amounts were not actually transferred to the funds of the receiving body until after the close of the financial year. For this reason payments on foot of demands do not always accord with the amounts shown to have been received from this source.

Local indebtedness on account of loans and stock outstanding at the 31st March, 1930, was £14,969,109, of which a sum of £4,460,857 was in respect of stock. The amount standing to the credit of redemption funds for the redemption of stock raised by local bodies or other debt of such bodies was £529,666.

SERIOUS HOUSING PROBLEM.

600 APPLICANTS FOR 23 HOUSES.

At a meeting of the Dun Laoghaire Corporation held last night, Mr. J. M. Devitt (Chairman) presiding, a motion was adopted instructing the Borough Manager to take the necessary steps to acquire the site known as the Allotment Field, Adelaide road, Dun Laoghaire, for the erection of houses under the Working Classes Acts.

Mr. Mallins, moving the resolution, said that they should tender their thanks to the Manager, Mr. P. J. Hernon, for the comprehensive and informative statement concerning the housing conditions in the town, which he presented to the Council. The state of affairs was, without exaggeration, astounding. There were 512 families in need of shelter, and if they deducted 78 families (for whom houses had already been, or were about to be, provided) from that number, it left 434 to be erected. There were 185 cases of overcrowding, and for the last 23 houses which the Council had erected there were no fewer than 600 applicants.

Mr. Dooge, seconding, expressed the hope that the allotment holders would get an opportunity of removing the spring crops from the site.

Mr. Dixon said that they should go slow with regard to seeking orders to close condemned houses, so that the occupants would not become the victims of eviction or separation. Such cases, he said, had happened, but he was sure that the Manager would not be a party to causing hardship to the occupants of the condemned houses.

The Chairman said the houses that would be erected on this site, as well as the houses at Kill avenue, would be for the people who were cleared out of the slum area.

The resolution was adopted.

SEQUEL TO DUBLIN FIRE.

GARAGES IN THE CITY.

A letter was read at a meeting of the Dublin Corporation last night from the Rev. Stephen J. Brown, S.J., honorary librarian, conveying his warm appreciation of the work of the Fire Brigade on the occasion of the recent fire in the Central Catholic Library, in Hawkins street. Mr. Albert O'Brien also expressed his gratitude to Captain Connolly and the men of the Fire Brigade for their courageous efforts on the occasion of the fire, which destroyed his garage.

The Lord Mayor drew attention to the growing practice of garaging 'buses in thickly populated areas. He hoped that the Corporation would give the matter its attention.

The Law Agent said that the City Manager was giving special attention to the granting of licences for petrol storage in the immediate vicinity of dwellings.

MR. GEORGE EASTMAN LEAVES £4,000,000.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ROCHESTER (NEW YORK), Monday

The will of Mr. George Eastman, pioneer of modern photography, who shot himself dead at his home here on March 14th, has been proved at 20,000,000 dollars (£4,000,000 at par). It is understood that the bulk of his fortune has been left to the University of Rochester.

A note stating "My work is done. Why wait?" was the only explanation of his act left by the dead millionaire, who had been ill for some time.

BRITISH RULE IN INDIA.

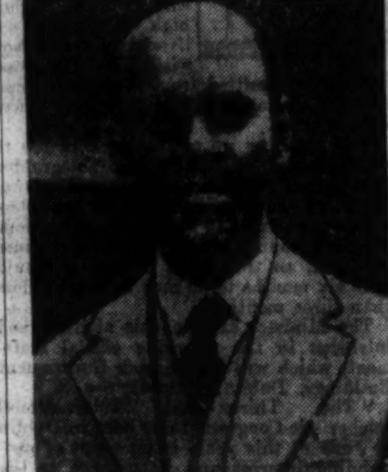

PLEA FOR VILLAGE SOVEREIGNTY.

ROTARIANS ADDRESSED BY INDIAN PROFESSOR.

PROFESSOR J. B. RAJU, M.A. (Madras) and B.Sc. (Oxon), Professor of Mental and Moral Science in Government College, Nagpur, India, gave the members of the Dublin Rotary an eloquent discourse on the conditions in India and his view as to how the country's problem could be solved.

Mr. Kevin J. Kenny presided.

If the British administrators in India, he said, had remained true to British ideals, if they had tried to reproduce in India all that was good and fair and true in Britain, the situation would be very different from what it is. For 150 years they had tried to do all sorts of things for the good of the people instead of attempting the far more statesmanlike task of getting the people to do things for themselves. That, he said, is the tragedy of British rule in India. The leaders of Indian nationalities, on the other hand, representing the high-caste intelligentsia, desire to create a strong, self-contained, independent Indian nation, which, with its 350 millions, might be a formidable rival to Japan and the European nations; while within India herself this cannot lead to freedom or democracy, but only to the substitution of a native Indian oligarchy for a foreign British one.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

India, he added, is an agricultural country of many villages. However ignorant the villagers may be, there is no reason why they should not come together and elect their elders annually to settle all disputes in the village. Let the sovereignty of the village be confined to the limits of the village, and the commonsense of its inhabitants will give a judgment on the things that concern themselves far more valuable than all the red tape of a Government thousands of miles away, working through a hierarchy of officials. On this foundation of real village sovereignty can be built up, step by step, the whole edifice of national sovereignty by a system of co-ordination and integration, yielding a strong central government rooted in the will of the people. It would be tragic beyond words if Indian political reconstruction attempted only the cheap and fruitless imitation in India of systems of government in other countries, alien to the soil and foreign to the genius and conditions of the Indian peoples, instead of building up an indigenous system that will give scope and do justice to all the conflicting elements in the country.

The contribution of each section ought to be determined only by the test of intrinsic worth, and by none other, and must lead to the perpetuation of all that is good and the annihilation of all that is evil, irrespective of whether it is Indian or European, Hindu or Moslem in origin.

Major Johnson, moving a vote of thanks, said that the speaker that day had given more practical information than one hundred books on India could give.

The Rev. Dr. Hanna seconded, and Mr. Roy Plumpton supported the motion, which was passed amid applause.

DUBLIN CORPORATION STOCK ISSUE.

REDEEMABLE IN 1975.

The Dublin Corporation, at a quarterly meeting last night, adopted a resolution by which a Stock, to be called "Dublin Corporation 4½ per Cent. Redeemable Stock, 1955-75," was created, and is to be issued to the nominal amount of £500,000, calculated at the sale price to produce a sum not exceeding £465,000. The resolution set out that such stock shall be issued at not less than 93 per cent., and shall bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent. per annum, and shall be redeemable at par on December 31, 1975, the Corporation having the option of redemption at par in whole or in part on or after December 31, 1955, on three months' notice.

The resolution was proposed by Mr. T. Kelly, and seconded by Mr. W. O'Connor.

Mr. J. Larkin, senior, said that they seemed to lose sight of the fact that they were trying to finance a cheap form of housing. They were not building houses for the workers, but for bankers. The Corporation did not get £500,000; the bank took a moiety of £35,000, and the Corporation paid 4½ per cent on £500,000 for 44 years, at the end of which they had paid £1,575,000 for a loan of £500,000.

THE LATE SIR HORACE PLUNKETT.

Sir A. D. Hall, chief scientific adviser to the British Ministry of Agriculture, writing to The Times with regard to the death of the late Sir Horace Plunkett, says:—

"With the death of Horace Plunkett, and for the last twenty-four years the dread of that event had been hanging over his friends, departs one who could only be described as a saint. Plunkett lacked many of the attributes of leadership. For an Irishman he was an indifferent speaker; his writings, to which he devoted infinite pains, were lucid, but lacked popular appeal; and though he was a sound man of business he was never a great administrator. Whence then arose his influence and the devotion with which he was served? From his entire disinterestedness, from the fact that in an Ireland torn by animosities of party, race, and religion, he was pursuing his one end—the regeneration of the life of the countryside, without regard to anything that might accrue to himself in the way of position or popularity.

"Before the war brought a new incursion or violence into Irish life, attendance at the Board meetings of the Agricultural Organisation Society made one believe in the eventual triumph of common-sense and good feeling in Irish affairs. Passionate Nationalists and equally passionate Ulstermen, parish priests and Presbyterian ministers, worked together amicably for Irish farming, and yet chaffed one another about their opinions. That was the spirit Plunkett was diffusing through Ireland, and it would have borne fruit before now had it not been submerged in the flood of hatred which the war let loose upon the world. It is no figure of speech to claim Plunkett as a saint. Few men have suffered more from his contemporaries. His own people—the Irish Unionists—hunted him out of political life, the Nationalists threw their influence against his co-operative organisation, the Republicans destroyed the house he had built to be a centre of intellectual life in Dublin. Yet in his latter days, when an exile from Ireland and a constant invalid, with his life work for agriculture ignored and even opposed by the farmers' representatives, no word of bitterness against man or party escaped him. The moment he recovered from the prostration consequent on one of his recurring attacks of intense pain, he resumed his efforts for the men and women of the land—' better farming, better business, better living.'"

THE CARRIAGE OF NEWSPAPERS.

RUNNING OF A SPECIAL TRAIN.

THE hearing was resumed before Judge D. J. O'Brien, at the Four Courts, yesterday, of the application by the Irish Press, Ltd., against the Irish Times, Ltd.; the Independent Newspapers, Ltd., and the Great Southern Railways Company for the same facilities for the transport of their papers as are afforded the respondent newspapers. The Irish Independent and the Irish Times, by agreement with the Great Southern Railways, are conveyed by special train leaving Kingsbridge at 3.55 a.m., with 'bus connections at various points between Kingsbridge and Cork. The Great Southern Railways declined to allow the Irish Press on the train, contending the agreement gave the respondent newspapers the exclusive right to newspaper traffic on the train. They offered to provide the Irish Press, Ltd., with another special train at a cost of £18,200 a year, with a guarantee that freight charges of not less than £6,000 a year would be paid in addition. The Irish Press asked for railway facilities equal to those granted to the other newspapers, and submitted that the agreement between the railway company and the two newspapers giving them the exclusive use of a special train was a breach of Section 2 of the Railways and Canal Traffic Act, 1854, and gave the respondent papers an undue preference.

The Attorney-General (Mr. Conor Maguire, K.C.), with Mr. Gavan Duffy, K.C.; Mr. M. J. Ryan, K.C., and Mr. William Black (instructed by Messrs. Little, O hUadhaigh and Proud) appeared for the Irish Press, Ltd.; Mr. Ernest Phelps, K.C.; Mr. E. J. Kelly, K.C., and Mr. Joseph Healy (instructed by Mr. J. J. McDonald) appeared for the Great Southern Railways Company; and Mr. Frank FitzGibbon, K.C., and Mr. Vaughan Wilson (instructed by Messrs. O'Connor and Dudley) appeared for the Irish Independent and the Irish Times.

GENERAL MANAGER'S EVIDENCE.

Yesterday Mr. Gavan Duffy continued his cross-examination of Mr. P. J. Floyd, general manager of the railway company, who had given evidence at previous hearings. At the outset counsel asked if a certain gentleman whom he would refer to as "Mr. X" was a director of the railway board and also chairman of Independent Newspapers, Ltd.

Mr. Floyd replied that there was. The witness, continuing, said that as it was a matter of business, he did not feel any delicacy in sealing the contract for a special train to a company with a director common to both.

Mr. Gavan Duffy—Did it occur to you that in committing your Board to an exclusive train for the Independent and the Irish Times you were putting them in a very false position?—Certainly not.

The witness stated that Mr. J. Donohoe, of the Irish Independent, and Mr. J. J. Simington, of the Irish Times, first suggested the use of an exclusive train for their newspapers. He agreed on the condition that he got back all their traffic. They insisted on the exclusive use of the train just as they had on their existing lorry service. The agreement gave the company unlimited right to carry all other traffic on the train save other newspapers.

Mr. Gavan Duffy—Who suggested the four years' monopoly?

Mr. FitzGibbon objected to the use of the word "monopoly."

Mr. Gavan Duffy repeated the question, and the witness replied—"I think it came from myself."

Mr. Duffy—You know this anxiety to exclude the other newspapers was directed against the Irish Press?—I saw there was an opposition coming, and these people demanded the train, and paid for it through the nose.

The witness, continuing, said that they would have agreed on certain conditions to the proposal for a special train had it come from the Irish Independent to the exclusion of the Irish Times. His Board would approve of any arrangements that he would make to secure traffic for the company. As traffic manager he was responsible. He admitted that during the negotiations leading up to the signing of the agreement, the Irish Press was constantly mentioned. He added that it was not his duty to prevent the exclusion of the Irish Press.

RUNNING COSTS.

Mr. Floyd said that twenty-three ordinary trains ran in conjunction with the special train in addition to over twenty 'bus connections and five lorries. These would all be delayed in connection with a second special train.

The bare cost of running the train, he said, was 1s. 10d. per mile, and, leaving out the consideration of the lorries, they would charge the Irish Press 2s. 6d. per mile, which was a low mileage charge. The 3.55 a.m. special train cost about £10,000 per year to run, and the railway company made a profit of £20,000 per year on the train. The company would take a bigger profit if the newspapers were carried on the ordinary running trains.

The contract of the two respondent newspapers was based on the estimated earnings of £24,000 odd per annum at seven-eighths of a penny per lb. When he swore his affidavit he estimated that the Irish Press carryings would be very small, but the carryings had, in fact, greatly exceeded his expectations.

Mr. Gavan Duffy—Is the difference between the charge for the same quantity of newspapers to the combine and the Irish Press £13,700—that is the difference between £18,200 and £4,500?

The witness did not agree to this.

Mr. Duffy—Is it not right that on any sum under £30,000 the railways company would get over the combine seven-eighths, that is £4,500?—Yes.

Mr. Duffy—In the offer to the Irish Press the railway company would get seven-eighths of a penny per lb., plus £18,200?—No.

The witness said he understood that if the traffic from the Irish Press amounted to £15,000 at seven-eighths of a penny they would pay to the railway company the deficit of the guarantee of £9,000.

THE SPECIAL SERVICES.

The witness stated that he had found that there were eight engines forming part of the entire organisation not fully occupied and eight sets of locomotive men. They manipulated these engines and men in such a way that they were able to work these special services at an additional cost of £8,550.

Mr. Duffy—By your own act in using up the eight spare engines for this special train you put it out of your power to give the Irish Press equally cheap facilities as you are giving the respondent newspapers?

Mr. FitzGibbon said that was a misrepresentation of the evidence.

Mr. Duffy—And that is the action you are trying to defend as not giving undue preference.

Re-examined by Mr. Phelps, K.C., the witness said he found that when he made the contract with the respondent newspapers he could put a special train on the line at certain additional cost of £8,550 because of the existing time-table. The existing cost would vary according to the state of the time-table and the ordinary services available.

Having concluded his evidence, Mr. Floyd asked the Court to appreciate his position in the case. He stated that he would on no account show any partiality to any party. He acted in the best interests of his business.

THE RESPONDENTS' CASE.

Mr. FitzGibbon, addressing the Court, said that it had been suggested in the opening of the case by counsel for the applicants that the respondent newspapers were in some way animated in connection with the procurement of this special train by some political animosity towards the Irish Press.

"I want," he continued, "to make it perfectly clear at the start that I do not know, and I do not care, what are the political views of the three newspapers, nor do I know the political views of the railway company, but I must make it clear that the two respondent newspapers are actuated in the matter of this special train by a much more potent influence than political sympathy, and that is by common or garden trade competition, which can be reduced to terms of £ s. d."

The reason why his clients desired to have the special train was in order to enable them the better to sell their papers against all their rivals That the Irish Press was now a rival of the respondent newspapers there was no doubt, but the main consideration of his clients in entering into the arrangement was that they were prepared to incur the cost—whether going by road or rail—of distributing their own newspapers. The respondent newspapers were prepared to work hand-in-hand in the train arrangement, but there their friendship and comradeship ended. That could not be construed as undue preference: it was merely a business arrangement between the two parties. Under no circumstances whatever would the two respondent newspapers go shares with the Irish Press in the cost of a single train.

QUESTION OF PREFERENCE.

"Whether we are willing to do that or not has got nothing to do with the question which you have to decide here—the question of undue preference," declared Mr. FitzGibbon.

The position, he went on, was that of traders, one of whom was in a position to incur very considerable expenditure in carrying out his business, and the other may not be; then the first trader was perfectly entitled to say that if the second came in with him it would diminish the costs of both, but that he was not going to help the second trader to diminish his costs. That was the attitude taken up by the respondent newspapers. They were going to have their goods distributed by their own arrangement, and were going to have a train which would carry their goods, and their goods only. So far as they were concerned, if they did not get those exclusive facilities, back to the roads they would go.

The statement had been made that the two respondent newspapers got facilities, which they would not otherwise have got, because there was a director common to the railway and one of the newspapers. That was a suggestion made, and it was regrettable. He pointed out that there had been no collusion between the newspapers and the railway company to get anything for the newspapers that they would not otherwise have got. He denied any conspiracy such as had been suggested for applicants. He joined with Mr. Phelps, K.C., in his disclaimer, that anything had been done to oust the Irish Press.

Having dealt with the cost of the special trains, Mr. FitzGibbon declared that it was not the newspapers that came to Mr. Floyd for the arrangement, but it was Mr. Floyd who chased the newspapers, and properly so, in the interests of his company.

Counsel said that there were two questions in the case—(1) the complaint of the applicants of undue preference being given to the respondents, and (2) the complaint that they had been refused reasonable facilities. He advanced arguments against these complaints.

Mr. FitzGibbon had not concluded his address when the Court adjourned until 11 o'clock this morning.

The losses of the French railways during the past financial year are put at £20,636,421, and that of the previous year brings the total deficit to date to nearly £40,000,000, which, according to the existing system, is made good by the State in the form of advances,

THE NEW LIFFEY BRIDGE.

CORPORATION AND A NAME.

THE RE-NAMING OF BERESFORD PLACE.

THE re-naming of Butt Bridge was the subject of a number of motions and communications at the quarterly meeting of the Dublin Corporation last night. They included a motion by Mr. John Cahill to change the name to Congress Bridge, and another by Mr. J. Larkin, senior, suggesting that the official opening of the bridge should coincide with the Eucharistic Congress, and that the name "Butt Bridge" be reserved for the new bridge to replace the metal bridge at Liffey street.

A PROTEST.

A letter was read forwarding a resolution passed at a meeting of the 1916 Club, protesting against the proposed change of the name of Butt Bridge, because of the insult it implied to national sentiment.

A copy of the resolution passed by the Port and Docks Board deciding to re-name Butt Bridge Congress Bridge was forwarded.

In reply to a question by Mrs. Kettle, the Law Agent gave it as his opinion that the Port and Docks Board was the only authority with the power to name the bridge.

Mrs. Kettle remarked that, in the circumstances, there did not seem much use in the Corporation discussing the matter. Personally, she was entirely against the change of name. Isaac Butt's was a name honoured in Irish history and, he had made a very definite contribution to the national cause. If this principle of changing names were to be developed they might see Parnell square and O'Connell Bridge re-named.

THE OLD NAME.

Mr. W. J. O'Hara moved as an amendment that the name Butt Bridge remain.

Mr. J. Gately seconded.

Mr. William O'Connor moved that the Council protest against the action of the Port and Docks Board in changing the name of the bridge.

Dr. Myles Keogh said that the citizens did not want the name Isaac Butt removed from the tablet on the bridge.

Mr. James Larkin, senior, denied that any insult was intended to the name of Butt by calling the new structure Congress Bridge. This was the only work of any public importance now being completed, and it would be a happy thought to have the official opening on the first day of the Congress. The name, Isaac Butt, could be perpetuated on the new bridge at Liffey street. There was a lot of talk about patriotism, but when the bridge was being built no attempt was made to insist on the contractor being an Irishman.

Senator O'Neill said that in the minds of some members there was undoubtedly a fear that the memory of Butt would be forgotten, but he thought that the judicious thing to do was to have the amendment withdrawn and Mr. Larkin's resolution passed.

Mrs. Kettle asked if the Council would have any powers in relation to the bridge to replace the present Metal Bridge.

The Law Agent replied that the endeavour of the Port and Docks Board would be to make the Corporation take over responsibility for that bridge.

THE DIVISION.

On a division, Mr. O'Hara's amendment was defeated by 15 votes to 11.

The voting was:—

Against the amendment—Senator L. O'Neill, Sir T. Robinson, the Lord Mayor, Messrs. T. Kelly, P. J. Cahill, L. O'Toole, J. Larkin (senior), S. O'Farrell, P. Belton, W. Costello, J. Cahill, P. S. Doyle, J. Healy, B. O'Connor, D. Coyle.

For—Dr. Myles Keogh, Mrs. Kettle, Messrs. T. Lawlor, R. Benson, O. Hynes, J. Larkin (junior), M. O'Sullivan, J. Gately, W. O'Connor, P. J. Meldar, and W. O'Hara.

The original motion was passed.

The Council then adopted a suggestion by Mr. T. Lawlor to insert the word "Eucharistic" before the word "Congress."

BERESFORD PLACE.

On the motion of Mr. J. Larkin, senior, seconded by Dr. Myles Keogh, a resolution was passed requesting the City Manager to take all necessary steps with a view to changing the name of "Beresford place" to "Connolly square," in commemoration of the service rendered to the nation by James Connolly.

ST. PATRICK'S BRIDGE.

DUN LAOGHAIRE CHAIRMAN'S SUGGESTION.

At the Dun Laoghaire Borough Corporation last night, Mr. J. M. Devitt, Chairman, referring to the suggested re-naming of Butt Bridge, said that to call it Congress Bridge, in honour of the holding of the Eucharistic Congress in Ireland this year, would be most indefinite, as the Eucharistic Congress was not the only congress held in Dublin.

A friend of his asked him to suggest that the bridge be re-named St. Patrick's Bridge, in view of the centenary of the landing of St. Patrick, which would be commemorated this year.

Mr. O'Donnell said that he thought that it was a great mistake to change the names of streets and other places. He favoured the retaining of the name of Butt Bridge, for the man after whom it was called was a good friend to Ireland.

'BUS OWNERS AND THE TRANSPORT ACT.

At a private meeting of the Irish 'Bus Owners' Association, held at 204 Pearse street, Dublin, last night, Mr. Eoin O'Keeffe presiding, a resolution was passed calling upon the Free State Government to "put the Transport Act into operation at the earliest possible date."

This Act was passed by Mr. Cosgrave's Government in January last, and was to be put into operation not earlier than three months from the time of passing, and not later than six months.

THE PHILIPPINE CRUX.

INDEPENDENCE BILL PASSED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Monday.

THE House passed the Hare Bill, providing for the independence of the Philippine Islands within eight years.

The bill provides that during the next eight years a framework for a new Government should be set up and a Constitution approved by the President of the United States.

This question has been a controversial issue in Congress for the last thirty years, and it is probably the economic factor which has now led to the adoption of the bill, for American farmers have long desired the independence of the islands in order to secure tariffs on sugar, coconut oil and other products which are now being imported duty free in competition with domestic products.

On the other hand, a remarkable letter was published this morning by Mr. Stimson, Secretary of State, in which he expresses the fear that if United States leadership were withdrawn "economic chaos and political and social anarchy would result, followed ultimately by the domination of the Philippines by a foreign Power, probably China or Japan."

IMPAIRED PRESTIGE.

The letter also declares "that for the United States to free the Philippines would be a demonstration of selfish cowardice and futility on our part to every foreign eye, and that United States moral prestige in the Far East would inevitably be impaired, for it would appear like the abandonment of a ward which the United States had undertaken to protect.

"In the Orient, far more than in the Occident, prestige is a measuring rod of success, and such a change would be an irreparable blow to United States influence; for whether we realise it or not we are already a great Pacific Power, and must sustain a constantly increasing interest in the affairs of the Pacific."

"REBELLION SLAVE MENTALITY."

MR. BERNARD SHAW ON IRISH SITUATION.

Discussing the present situation in Ireland, Mr. Bernard Shaw, who arrived at Southampton yesterday, after a holiday in South Africa, said:—

"The position is very much the same as in South Africa. In Ireland they do not know that Dublin Castle no longer exists. The Irish Republican Army thinks that Ireland is still enslaved and that they have to overthrow Dublin Castle. The difficulty is not to get men to take in new ideas, but to throw out the old ones.

"In Ireland they have the old rebellion slave mentality. They are in as strong a position in the Empire as anybody else, but they do not know it, and they never will know it.

"They can go on with their old business of illegal drilling and being against the Government.

"Mr. Cosgrave's Government went on the old tradition that the Irish people must not be allowed to have weapons. The only people who had weapons left were gunmen, and the result was that gunmen ruled the roost, and life became intolerable. Mr. Cosgrave's Government, unfortunately, tried to remedy that by giving high military officers the power to hang or shoot anybody in Ireland they liked without trial. That was what it came to, and that was the secret of his overthrow.

"What I should have done was to give all the steady-going population of Ireland a revolver and twelve rounds of ball cartridge and let them dispose of the gunmen. You must trust the people."

Mr. Geo. William Charles, or Geo. William, Baylor, of 19 Otteran place, Waterford, who died on December 30th last, left personal estate of the value of £17,122 16s. 5d. Probate of his will dated May 23rd, 1930, has been granted to his sister, Miss Gertrude Sarah Baylor, of the same address, and Frederick Higgins, stockbroker, of 41-42 The Mall, Waterford.

(BEFORE MR. HANNAN.)

Henry Coleman, trading as Scientific Electrical Works, 22 Charlotte street, was charged under the Industrial and Commercial Property (Protection) Act, 1927, for representing as registered a trade mark, which was not registered in the Free State.

The offending mark was a device with the word, "Chemico," for use in connection with celluloid cement or paste. The mark also bore the words, "Regd. Trade Mark."

Having heard the defendant the Justice convicted, and imposed a fine of 10s. on each of two counts.

The Town Clerk, Mr. P. J. Hernon, at a meeting of the Dun Laoghaire Corporation last night, reported that £124,143 had been collected on the rate warrant. That was 95 per cent. of the gross collection of the area.

MOUTH GERMS

Blame these destructive enemies for yellow stain, decay and serious gum troubles. These germs sweep into the mouth and defy ordinary tooth-paste. The antiseptic Kolynos foam gets into every crevice and kills these germs—cleans teeth down to the naked white enamel without injury. It cleans for 3 hours after each brushing and gets amazing results. Switch to Kolynos. Use the Dry-Brush Technique—a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush—within 3 days teeth will look whiter... fully three shades. Get Kolynos from your chemist to-day.

SOFT GOING.

CLAUDINE FOR CHOICE IN THE LEAMINGTON PLATE.

THE going at Warwick is very soft, and in these conditions the course becomes very tricky. The principal event to-day is the Leamington Plate, and here Mr. B. Davis's Potchim will attempt to carry his penalty contracted at Leicester first past the post. I have, however, more fancy for Break of Day, who has been kept well on the move since he finished a little way in front of Potchim at Nottingham.

Claudine won her last flat race, and should be fit from hurdling. She is a very speedy customer over ten furlongs, and I should not be surprised to find her included in the placed division. She won on this course last November very easily, and acts better in soft going. Phalarope ran well at Lincoln, while Mute Swan is at the top of his form. Pauli is not overweighted, but the danger to may be Break of Day.

Lakin, who is engaged in the Grove Park Plate, is small and nippy. I do not think that he will find the Warwick mud to his liking. Outlaw is fancied, but is the selection.

Carona will not unexpectedly be an absentee from the Hatton Selling Plate, and in his absence a good race should be seen between Blockade and Buncle. The last-named will be ridden by Gordon Richards, and he is expected to go very close.

BLOCKADE

won cleverly at Birmingham after making all the running, and he is a very much-improved animal. The soft going will be in his favour, and I expect him to win.

Rosula gelding is one of the most promising two-year-olds I have seen this season, and I expect him to play a prominent part in the Harbury Selling. Hooray will win a race before long, and Microphone colt is improving. Juancito is well fancied, but is the selection.

The Debdale Plate is for amateur riders, and Mr. F. Cundell will have a ride on the versatile Residue. Residue ran well in similar events to this last season, and he should be fit from National Hunt racing. He is not exactly a mudlark, but soft going will not stop him. Sanpere has also been seen over the jumps, but I much prefer who is the selection.

Arena has plenty of weight to carry in the Milverton Plate, but even so she is not without a chance. Conway, Norman Invader and Purple Tint are fancied, but I have a decided preference for who won on this course last season.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

MANVERO'S STAMINA.

DINAH DESMOND COLT SCORES A NARROW VICTORY.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.
WARWICK, Monday Night.

FOR the greater part they were bad horses that ran here this afternoon, and no wonder, for it was hardly Christian weather, cold and wet and misty, and the going terribly heavy. It seemed in the morning that the best horse we were likely to see during the day was Mr. Boydie Davis's colt by Stratford out of Dinah Desmond, who won at Lincoln and dead-heated with the Brocklesby winner at Kempton.

He did win this race, the Kineton Plate, but rather discounted his performance by only just getting up to get the better of Elenoir in a good finish by a head. Only for the fact that the colt had good courage he would not have overhauled the filly, who is also by Stratford.

The Dinah Desmond colt had shot out of the gate first and quickly established a good lead, but he did not come round the elbow too well, and Elenoir shot by upon his inside, and not only took the rails off him, but also the lead. She stuck to it, and through the last furlong it was a stirring struggle between them, with the filly clinging like death to her advantage. None of the others had a look in with this pair either.

THE PROBLEM.

Elenoir, who was beaten a long way behind Coroado at Liverpool, has come on a lot, or else the Dinah Desmond colt is not as good as was thought.

It is a long time since I have seen a race undergo such a transformation so quickly as did that for the Castle Plate. The favourite was Lieutenant-Colonel Loder's Colorado Kid, who, making the turn for the straight, was only fifth in a well strung-out field, some ten lengths behind the leaders, Prompter and Young Native. They were well in the straight before he began to improve, and even then he looked a 20 to 1 chance. In the last 150 yards, when A. Wragg picked his whip up, he fairly flew. I have never seen a horse go past the others at the finish of a race in very bad going so quickly as Colorado Kid seemed to, and he finished up an easy winner by two lengths from Prompter.

MOSTLY MODERATE.

I imagine they were mostly moderate horses in the Warwick Spring Handicap, which was won all the way by one of the bottom weights, Manvero. This aged horse was not so well fancied as Nightingall's other runner, Bestobell, but Manvero did the better, for Sirett set off in front, and making all the running, with a clear lead, he won by a length and two lengths from Mallock and Bestobell, who only just kept Angel Pavement out of third place. The veteran Pard had too much to do with 9st.

Lady Carrick, who was successful at Lincoln with the first horse she ever ran, started her second, and he also won. This was the gelding by Essexford out of Piastre, who in the Southam Selling Plate just beat the filly by Scherzo out of Chinkie by a head. This well-grown colt was one of the worst drawn, while the Chinkie filly was one of the best. The winner owed his success to the excellent race and the strong finish ridden by Harry Beasley.

TWO LUCKY PURCHASES.

Haines Hill cost Lady Carrick 25 gns., and the Piastre gelding 45 gns. She must be one of Fortune's Turf favourites to find a couple of yearlings at such prices, both of which win at the first time of asking. To-day's winner attracted a good deal of attention in the Ring, and it cost 380 guineas to retain him in Mr. Briscoe's stable.

The light had grown steadily worse when the other selling race, the Guy Handicap, was run and won by Duraznita, a three-year-old Bridge of Earn filly, owned and trained by Rimell, who had not saddled a winner since Forbra in the Grand National. Duraznita, who was bought in for 200 gns., beat Sly Love, a filly by Bachelor's Craft, by three-parts of a length. The going favoured the light-weights, and another of them, Rushall Down, a five-year-old gelding by Knockando, without much previous form, won the Shorts Handicap by a neck from Irish Shadow, a daughter of Fantomas.

SELECTIONS.

It is terrible to think what the going will be like here to-morrow if the rain continues as it is doing now. The most important race is the Leamington Plate, and this may be won by CLAUDINE.

The Grove Park Plate may be won by AIR TRAVEL, and the Debdale Plate by RESIDUE.

GALTEE MORE.

NEWMARKET NOTES.

LIKELY WINNERS IN CANNON'S TEAM : WARWICK HINTS.

NEWMARKET, Monday.

WE had a good amount of rain during the night, and the turf is now in splendid condition for galloping. Cannon was busy this morning, and had quite a batch of jockeys riding in some good spins. Weston was on Yankee Clipper, Perryman on Knocke, Simpson on Harihur, Lowrey on Bayonet, and S. Wragg on Africana in a good pace gallop over six furlongs, and the last-named showed good form.

This doubtfully bred daughter of Herbalist or Sardanapale has wintered well. Her form as a juvenile will bear inspection, as although she was unplaced in her first race, she was unluckily beaten by Sudan and Yellow Cloud for the Chesterton Stakes here. She made no mistake at her next attempt at Newbury, when she won the Theale Plate, and subsequently carried her penalty successfully at Birmingham, while on her last outing she was attempting to give that good filly, Dorigen, 10lb. at Lincoln in November, and was certainly second best.

In a fast five furlong gallop Legato (Perryman) showed good speed with The Mole (Weston), Within The Law (S. Wragg), Quick March (Lowrey), and Gaymer (Simpson). Legato's forte is staying, and he ran well for the Burton Handicap at Birmingham, won by Buchanita. He is one that will win races, while Gaymer, the recently named Gay Girl colt, struck me as going well, and should win a minor event.

Fred Butters has got his team well forward in condition. Cherrypicker, who put up a good race against St. Mark at Birmingham, moved well in a good mile gallop with Sir Galadale and Pharacre, and should soon make amends for that defeat.

Chorist, who is due to contest the Victoria Spring Handicap at Lingfield, was given his final gallop, and he moved well throughout a good mile spin.

Air Pocket, who won at Liverpool, and afterwards finished second to Covenden at Kempton Park for the Queen Elizabeth Handicap, strode out well in a good stripped two miles gallop, in which Spinnaker assisted him for the first mile, and he is going to be a fighting factor for the Thatcham Long Distance Handicap at Newbury on Saturday.

The Stanley House trainer continues to give Salmon Leap useful work. Weston rode him this morning in a good-pace gallop of one mile with Zane Grey. Yellowstone (Hewitt) and Guiscard were sent a similar spin, and the season should not be far advanced before both are seen in winning colours.

As was the case to-day, we shall not have many runners at Warwick.

Air Travel has been seen in public twice, and has a penalty for the Grove Park Plate, Startler and are making their first attempt, but the latter did well in his trial on Saturday, and I give him the preference.

Hark Holloa and

will contest the Hatton Selling Plate, and I like the chance of the latter.

Ladies' Chain ran very well in the Lincolnshire Handicap, finishing thirteenth, and her connections are hopeful that she will win the Leamington Plate. However, at a difference of 8lb. I prefer who only just failed to win the Nottingham Spring Handicap, and as Potchim, who finished behind him, has won since, it argues well for Pickering's charge.

Return Fare, Brooklands, and

will contest the Harbury Selling Plate, and the last-named has my vote.

I look to

FIREPLACE (next best)

to beat Conway in the Milverton Plate.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

Lieut.-Col. C. W. Birkin Dead.

Lieeutenant-Colonel C. W. Birkin, the well-known owner of racehorses, whose death took place on Sunday night, bred three winners of classic races—Hotweed, Diolite, and Brulette, but only the last-named carried his racing colours. She won the Epsom Oaks ofr him in 1931. He sold Diolite, who won the Two Thousand Guineas in 1930, to Sir Hugo Hirst as a yearling for the small sum of 480 guineas. Hotweed was sold to Mr. Edward Esmond, the French owner of racehorses, and won the French Derby and the Grand Prix de Paris three years ago. Lieutenant-Colonel Birkin raced both in England and France, and had breeding studs in both countries.

A Winner Not Qualified.

Mr. C. D. Davidson, the Clerk of the Course at Towcester, has received the following telegram from Willett, the trainer of Prince du Sang II.:—"Just discovered Prince du Sang II., winner National Hunt Flat Race, Towcester, not qualified. Please inform Stewards." This involves the automatic disqualification of Prince du Sang II., Ferrans becoming first, Columbus second, and Home Ruler third. The race was run at Towcester on March 29th. To be qualified for it Prince due Sang II. should have been previously placed in a steeplechase in Great Britain, but he had not run in any such.

Powerstown Park Meeting.

An excellent day's racing is promised at Powerstown Park on Thursday. One hundred and twenty entries have been received for the six races, which include steeplechases over bank and bush fence courses. A special train will leave Kingsbridge at 11 o'clock, stopping at Templemore and intermediate stations to Clonmel. Entries for the two-day meeting in May close to-morrow.

Death of Useful Filly.

Lord Glanely's Wild Vixen, a promising three-year-old daughter of Foxlaw and Western Hill, died yesterday from an internal complaint. She had not been seen out in public, but had been nominated for the Castle Plate at Warwick yesterday.

Mishap to a Two-Year-Old.

While galloping with others of C. Waugh's team yesterday morning, Sir V. Sassoon's Risque, a two-year-old gelding by Prestissimo out of Pride of Priestown, injured his off fore pastern. He was to have run in the Grange Selling Plate at Lingfield Park on Thursday.

Injured Jockeys.

Mr. Fred Thackray, the amateur rider, injured in the Grand National, continues to show improvement. T. McCarthy and D. McCann, who were injured in other races at the Liverpool meeting, have fully recovered, and were discharged from hospital yesterday.

FROM THE HUNTING FIELDS.

KILDARE HOUNDS.

A FINE HUNT.

THESE hounds met at Ballyhook Cross Roads on Thursday. Ballyhook Hill was drawn blank, but a fox left Glenduff immediately hounds went in. Crossing the bog, he ran as if for the mountains, across Whitestown and the main Blessington road, but shortly after this he was lost. Hounds then went to Tynte Park, which was drawn blank for the first time for many years; probably the foxes were all underground, as later in the day an unknown hole was found. Cryhelp was also blank, but Tober held, and hounds hunted him into Tynte Park, where they marked him to ground. On the way to Rathsallagh hounds disturbed a fox lying out in a small bog, and a fine hunt ensued. He ran hard through Beechhill, then right-handed over the famous Ballyhook doubles into Glenduff. He went straight through the covert and over the arm of Ballyhook, leaving Stratford on the left; thence into Saunders' Grove, down to the Slaney and out across Golden Fort to the railway. Here a beaten fox was viewed just in front of hounds in a patch of gorse, and they finally killed him in Miss Tynte's gravel pit at Tuckmill, just short of Baltinglass. The point was five miles, and about eight miles as hounds ran. Time—Eighty-five minutes.

CO. LIMERICK HOUNDS.

PRESENTATION TO THE MASTER.

At Adare Manor, Lord Dunraven, on behalf of the County Limerick Hunt Club, presented Mr. H. S. Persse, the retiring Master, with an old Irish silver cup in recognition of his valuable services to the Hunt. His lordship said that this year marked the 120th anniversary of the founding of the Hunt. He paid a high tribute to Mr. Persse's Mastership, as did also the Chairman, Mr. David Browning, who said that sport was so good that many visitors have arrived to settle down in the locality, and others would have done likewise if they could have secured suitable houses. He was sorry Mr. Persse was giving up the Mastership, but he hoped to see Mrs. Persse and himself occasionally in the hunting field in the country.

The Hon. Mrs. Baring, on behalf of the ladies, also thanked Mr. Persse for his able Mastership. In returning thanks, Mr. Persse said they were getting a Master who would give them as good sport, if not better, than he (the speaker) had done.

The members of the Hunt were hospitably entertained by the Earl and Countess of Dunraven at the Manor.

The new Master of the Limerick Hunt is Mr. Pickersgill, who hunted the Scarteen Hounds (Black and Tans) in previous seasons.

LOUTH HOUNDS.

From the meet at Ardcath a fox found in Battramstown provided a fast 25 minutes past the Grange, then on to Kilnue bog, where hares complicated matters, and he was unaccounted for. They found next in Gormley's quarry, but this fox was headed by motor cars, and, returning to the covert, was left. On going on to draw Piercetown the Meath Hounds were met running into the covert, and, both packs joining up, they ran through Piercetown and on towards Gormley's, where they were stopped. A fox found in Gaulstown would not leave, and was killed in covert. A brace left Thomastown, and hounds, getting well away with one, ran very fast by Weston nearly to Somerville. Turning right-handed, they ran parallel to the Ashbourne road by Knockcommon, and over the railway to Cullen House, where they marked to ground after thirty minutes of the best over a lovely country.

Mooretown was the tryst on Friday, and, finding at Mooretown, hounds ran by the Glen up towards Drakestown, where they lost. They next found in Rathbran, and ran fast by Donamore hill to Carrickmageouga, where they marked to ground; and a fox found in Stickillen ran along the railway nearly to Ardee, where he found a hole.

This hunt finished the best season these hounds have had for many years.

Hounds were out on 58 days, including cub-hunting; 12 brace of foxes were killed, and 35 brace marked to ground.

There were several very good hunts, perhaps the best being on January 27th, from Battramstown, hounds running for 1 hour 45 minutes, and covering 13 miles of country.

GOLF.

ULSTER ALLIANCE VICTORY.

LEINSTER BEATEN BY 39 STROKES.

BY OUR GOLF CORRESPONDENT.

BY thirty-nine strokes the Ulster Alliance defeated the Leinster Alliance in the fourth annual match, played yesterday at Knock, Belfast, and thus, on the series, the Northerners became all square. The aggregate were 946 to 985—rather high scoring for this class of golf. Ninety-three players took out cards, including all the leading professionals, but not one finished under the bogey of the course, which is 75. The conditions, however, were not favourable, as a strong north-easterly wind prevailed until late in the evening, when an aggregate fourball sweepstakes was played; neither is it an easy course at this time of year.

So far, the "home" players have had the better of these pleasant outings, probably as a result of weight of numbers, so to speak. Last season, for instance, at Dollymount Leinster had ninety members out; yesterday Ulster had sixty-two to thirty-one—two to one—and a Northern victory was always assured, just as ours was twelve months ago. A change in the conditions for playing for the McMullan trophy, therefore, seems desirable.

In addition to the trophy, there were the usual prizes, the bulk of which went to the Ulster players. Indeed, the only one to cross the border was the best gross, which again went to William Holley, who reached the turn in 39 with a 7 at the sixth, and came back in 37, which also contained a 7 (at the fourteenth). At one time, however, it looked as if Willie Nolan would take the premier award. After a poor start he settled down, and was level fours at the thirteenth, but a pulled drive to the drain at the fourteenth, a penalty for picking out, and three putts produced an 8, and he finished with Sid. Fairweather, E. Patterson and J. McKenna at 78. A local golfer, I. W. Seaton, won the best nett with an excellent 77, after a tie with M. Hewitt and H. C. Montgomery, but the last-named threw it away at the home hole, for which he required nine of the best, when he appeared certain of winning it easily.

The captain of the Knock Club, Mr. W. McMullan (the donor of the trophy), and the committee left nothing undone to ensure the complete success of the meeting, and Mr. W. F. Neill (President, Ulster Alliance), Mr. R. C. Davidson (Hon. Secretary), Mr. J. K. Christie (Hon. Treasurer), and Mr. T. H. M'Murray (President, Ulster Branch, G.U.I.) also had a share of the day's hard work.

It was by far the most enjoyable of these annual fixtures.

Milltown won the return match against the Island, Malahide, in the second round of the Ladies' Senior Cup by 3 matches to 2 at Milltown yesterday. In—3 5 4 4 4 4 3 3 5=35

Total 71

D. Wilson Smyth (scr.) and T. J. Ferguson (6) tied for second place in these events, each returning a net 76.

The best returns in the monthly bogey competition were:—

H. L. Hardy Greer (4), all square.
T. J. Ferguson (6), 1 down.
J. M. McAuley (14), 1 down.

THE BRITISH WALKER CUP TEAM.

Mr. Henry Gullen, Secretary of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club, St. Andrews, stated yesterday that an announcement regarding the British team for the Walker Cup match against American amateurs will be made within the next few days. The match will be played in America, probably in September, the date and venue having yet to be arranged. It is anticipated that T. A. Torrance, the London Scottish golfer, will captain the British side. Mr. Francis Ouimet, the United States amateur champion, has already been selected to captain the American team.

Mr. Gullen stated yesterday that no appointment of captain has yet been made by the Royal and Ancient Club.

Mr. Torrance is a member of the Sandy Lodge and Addington clubs, and a keen supporter of the London Scottish Rugby Football Club. He has played seven times for Scotland against England, and three times against America. In the last two Walker Cup matches he was the only British player to win his singles matches.

AMATEURS BEAT PROFESSIONALS.

W. L. Hope (St. George's Hill) and C. K. Cotton (Stoke Poges) played a thirty-six holes match against Arthur Havers (Sandy Lodge), the British Ryder Cup player, and Hugh Roberts (Stoke Poges), at Stoke Poges yesterday, and the professionals, conceding four up, were defeated by 5 and 4. On the first round the amateurs were five up, and they were six to the good at the twenty-seventh.

GREYHOUND RACING.

TWO SHORT-HEAD VERDICTS.

MOTTO'S SMART WIN AT SHELBOURNE PARK.

GOTH put up a great performance in winning the Sweepstake Hurdle last night at Shelbourne Park. He was opposed by three of the best hurdlers in the country, but, jumping faultlessly, he won in a most exciting finish by a short head from Leiotrichous. Dreamy Melody and Great Event, the favourites, ruined their chances by colliding going over the first obstacle, and Goth, the outsider of the party, and Leiotrichous ran neck and neck, but the son of Stormont, with a great burst of pace in the straight, just got up on the line.

There was another very exciting race for the Dublin Stake (bitches), Cappalagh Lass just getting up in the last stride to win by a short head from Rhyne. A smart greyhound, Motto, won the Dublin Stake (dogs), after leading virtually all the way; while Gaulsmill Again created a surprise by winning the Shelbourne Stake. Details:—

DUBLIN STAKE (dogs)—Mr. McSweeney's MOTTO (2) (Latto—Parpquiety), 6 to 1, 1; Mr. M. Egan's SPURTOWN WAY (6), 6 to 4, 2; Mr. M. Casey's BOOSEY BOB (1), 4 to 1, 3. Also ran—C.L.B. (4), 6 to 1; Riverstown Boy (5), 10 to 1; Mill Spinner (3), 5 to 2. Two lengths; three lengths. 32.27 secs.

CLONMEL STAKE, 585 yards—Mr. P. Gallagher's bd. d. DERNA (4) (Solid Man—Bright Sari), 5 to 2, 1; Mr. J. Colclough's COMIC BRIGADE (6), 2 to 1, 2; Mrs. E. Harty's UKELELE LEADER (2), 5 to 1, 3. Also ran—Looking Back (3), 6 to 1; Master K. (5), 10 to 1; Gentleman Jack (1), 7 to 1. Four lengths; same. 31.5 secs.

THE BATEMAN CUP.

MATCHES TO BE PLAYED THIS WEEK.

The annual competition for the Bateman Cup between the teams winning the senior Cups in the four provinces will be played on next Friday and Saturday at Lansdowne road. Owing to Garryowen and Dolphin playing a drawn game in the semi-final of the Munster Cup last Saturday, and the replay being fixed for next Saturday it was feared that the Bateman Cup would lose a lot of its interest, but the difficulty has been got over by the Rugby Union inviting Cork Constitution, who are in the final round of the Munster Cup to represent the Southern province. Consequently the originally arranged programme will be carried out, and the matches will be as follows:—

FRIDAY, 8th INST.

(A) University College, Galway (Connaught) v. Queen's University, Belfast (Ulster).
Kick-off 2.30 p.m.

(B) Constitution (Munster) v. Bective Rangers (Leinster).

COMMENTS ON THE CUP FINALS.

EXCELLENT TEAM WORK BY ARDS.

Of the three cups won by Pembroke Wanderers last season, they have succeeded in keeping only one this year—the Leinster Senior Cup. The All-Ireland Cup went North with Ards, and the Leinster League Cup was won by Optimists.

The Irish Cup semi-finals were played on Friday in a more or less continual downpour. Ards (Belfast) and Galway contested the first match, which was won by the Northern team, 3-0. Galway were unfortunate in having to travel five subs., but despite this great handicap they put up a very fine fight in holding Ards to a 3-goal margin. It was really among the forwards that the weakness of the Galway team lay. They got several scoring opportunities in the early stages of the game, but the inner forwards were weak and slow in the circle. Ards led at the interval by one goal, for which, incidentally, they had to fight hard, but after the interval they were definitely the better side, and Misses Marshall and Mathieson added further goals.

WANDERERS DISAPPOINT.

The second match, between Pembroke Wanderers and Cork, was played on the same pitch, a fact which spoiled what would probably have been a very fine exhibition of hockey. The Cork side adapted themselves splendidly to the conditions, and were well worth their three goals win. Wanderers appeared to have great difficulty in keeping their feet, and, except for the back division and Miss Phelan, the team did not come up to expectations at all. Miss Phelan was easily the best of the forward line, getting in some fine runs and centring splendid passes, which, however, were badly wasted by the inners, who either sent outside or lost their footing in the act of shooting.

Miss N. Whiteside (centre-half), though not up to her usual form, was better than either of the wing halves. The latter rarely marked the Cork wings, with the result that both Miss Murphy and Miss Barry, who possessed fine speed, got away on numerous occasions. It was only the good defence put up by Misses McHugo, Dowling and Magee that saved Wanderers from a really heavy defeat.

The final between Ards and Cork on Saturday started very keenly, and for some time Cork looked like repeating their victory over Wanderers. In the second half, however, they appeared to tire, and Ards ran out good winners by 4-2.

On the day's match Ards were the better side. Their team work was splendid, and of a fine combination Misses F. Moffett (right half), Strahan (centre forward), and Marshall (right inner) were most prominent. The Southern team were obviously feeling the effects of their strenuous match on Friday, especially in the second half, when they lost control of the play altogether. Miss Daly was not up to her usual game, but Miss Beamish played a good game at full-back, and Mrs. Law showed up well in goal. Miss O'Mahony was the pick of the middle line, while among the forwards Misses Lyons and Barry were most in evidence.

THE LEAGUE CUP FINAL.

The League Cup final was played after the Irish Cup match, and ran into two periods of extra time before Optimists defeated Dublin University 3-2. Trinity were without their usual wings, Misses Hassard and Perry, and this entailed some changes. Miss Northridge moved up to left wing, Miss Weir coming on as left half, and Miss Koenigs filling the right wing position. The Optimists' defence has rarely been seen to such advantage. Miss Gibson was in great form in goal, and the fulls, Misses Blair and Kiernan, showed up splendidly. The latter was deputising for Miss Sowman, who was unable to play.

Miss Peatt gave a fine display at centre-half, while Miss Foster was easily the best of the forward. On the Trinity side, Misses French and Wheeler were outstanding. These two inners were untiring in their efforts to secure the winning goal, but Miss McKay did not make enough of her opportunities in the centre. The halves and wings appeared to be disorganised by the changes, but the backs cleared splendidly when scores seemed certain.

The following are the fixtures for the Civil Service Cup matches this week:—

CRICKET.

INDIAN TEAM SAILS FOR ENGLAND.

The Indian team which is to tour England in the summer set sail from Bombay on Saturday amid scenes of great enthusiasm. With the exception of K. S. Duleepsinhji, who is playing for Sussex, and the Nawab of Pataudi, who cannot travel, the team is the best possible, and, in the opinion of Frank Tarrant, the old Middlesex player, who has been coaching them, will prove a great attraction in England, where they are to play all the leading counties.

The following is the team, which is composed entirely of Indians, and whose average age is about twenty-five:—

Maharajrana of Porbundhar (captain), Prince Ghanshyamsinhji of Limbi (vice-captain), C. K. Naidu (Indore), Wazir Ali (Bhopal), J. G. Navle (Gwalior), B. E. Kanadia (Bombay), J. Naomal (Karachi), Mahomed Nisar (Lahore), S. R. Godambe (Bombay), Joginder Singh (Patiala), Lall Singh (Malaya), Gulam Mahomed (Karachi), S. H. Colah (Bombay), Amar Singh (Kathiawad), N. D. Marshall (Bombay), K. Palia (Mysore), Jahangir Khan (——), Nazir Ali (Patiala).

CYCLING.

DATES AND VENUES OF IMPORTANT EVENTS.

At a meeting of the Cycling sub-Committee of the N.A.C.A. last night, the following arrangements were made:—Youths' National Championship, Croke Park, Whit Monday, May 16; National 50 Miles Championship, Limerick, July 24; National 100 Miles Championships, Dublin, August 14; 100 kilos Olympic trial, Dublin, June 5; 175 kilos (Tailteann) (international), July 10; inter-club and inter-county championship (Dunlop Cup), Dublin section, 1st round, Sunday, April 10; Limerick and Galway sections, first round, April 24.

It was decided to alter the conditions, in order to revive the national pursuit championships this year. This is a race for teams of four over two miles on a track, and has hitherto been confined to clubs throughout the country. As provincial clubs cannot raise teams, it has been decided to open the event to counties instead, with the exception of Dublin, as club teams can still be fielded there. The closing date for entries is May 16.

BOXING.

TUCKER KNOCKS OUT HICKMAN.

BOOTH BOWER BEATEN IN EIGHTH ROUND.

There were remarkable scenes inside and outside the Crystal Palace, London, last night, when Charlie Hickman, the "Booth boxer," of Birmingham, and Tommy Tucker, of Preston, met in a return fight. Such a crowd of people gathered outside the gates that police reinforcements were called to control them and make way for those holding tickets. Two hours before the men were to go into the ring hundreds struggled to get through the outer gates to the centre transept, where the ring was pitched, and it was not more than half-an-hour before the men entered the ring that ticketholders were able to get to their seats.

A few weeks ago Tucker had gained an easy victory over Hickman, and he once again proved his superiority by knocking his opponent out in the eighth round.

Tucker went into his man from the bell, smashing in lefts and rights to the head and body. Hickman staggered back surprised, but he was not hurt. In the second round Tucker lan'ed a right and left to the jaw that put his opponent down, but Hickman was quickly up again.

Hickman appeared to have no counter for the attack of Tucker, and the Preston boxer was driving him round the ring, and was just short of a knock-out with a left to the jaw. Hickman did stop his opponent's rushes with a left uppercut in the fifth round, but Tucker was tireless in his attacks, and, though Hickman shot home a left or two early in the sixth round he failed to thwart his man.

Tucker landed another left swing flush to Hickman's mouth, which was cut, and for the remainder of the round Tucker seemed to be looking for an opening for a knock-out.

The seventh round saw Tucker still forcing the fight, and he got in many telling punches. A right to the jaw half-way through the eighth round sent Hickman to the boards for a long count. He sat up, amid the frenzied cries of the spectators, taking his time. When he got to his feet he showed no signs of weakness, however, and, though he was still very slow and Tucker was still forcing the pace, there did not seem any likelihood of the swift ending that was to follow.

Tucker went in with a rush towards the end of the round. He missed with a terrific right swing, landed a left that staggered Hickman, and then smashed in a powerful right and left that ripped into Hickman's stomach. Tucker walked slowly away as his opponent lay prostrate, while the timekeeper called the seconds. As "Out" was about to be called, Hickman's seconds threw the towel into the ring, amid scenes of intense excitement.

AN IRISH HEAVY-WEIGHT "HOPE."

Jack Doyle, the ex-Guardsman, who was making his first appearance as a professional, scored a lightning win over Chris. Goulding, of Barnsley, at the Crystal Palace, London, last night, landing a knock-out in less than thirty seconds. Doyle, a tall and strong heavy-weight, punches straight from the shoulder, and Goulding, who has been styled the "Yorkshire Carnera," had little chance against the terrific hitting of his opponent.

Doyle, who is an Irishman, was in the Irish Guards, but was bought out by Mr. Dan Sullivan. In his Army career Doyle had 28 knocks-out to his credit.

THE JUVENILE TITLES.

At a meeting of the Central Council, I.A.B.A., last night, General W. R. E. Murphy presiding, the following weights were decided upon for the juvenile championships, which commence on Thursday next at Islandbridge Barracks at 6.30, and will be continued on Friday:—Gnat-weight, 4st. 7lb.; midget-weight, 5st.; paper-weight, 5st. 7lb.; fly-weight, 6st.; bantam-weight, 6st. 7lb.; feather-weight, 7st.; light-weight, 7st. 7lb.; welter-weight, 8st.; middle-weight, 8st. 7lb.; cruiser-weight, 9st.; junior heavy-weight, 9st. 9lb.; heavy-weight, over 9st. 9lb.

The creation of the junior heavy-weight division is to avoid any discrepancies between the cruiser and heavy-weight classes.

The juvenile championships, which have been a success since their inception, have attracted over 100 entries, including a number from county clubs.

THE BOARD OF CONTROL CRITICISED.

Mr. E. A. (Ted) Broadribb, the London representative of Mr. Jeff Dickson, the boxing promoter, has sent in his resignation to the British Boxing Board of Control, in which he was a member of the committee.

While Mr. Broadribb's resignation follows the refusal of the Board to recognise Cuthbert Taylor, the coloured Welsh boxer, as a contender for the British feather-weight title, that is not the only reason for Mr. Broadribb's action.

"The Board of Control should be run by professional men for professional boxers, and not by amateurs, of whom there are too many," said Mr. Broadribb. "The stewards are the people who run the Board, and some of their actions and decisions have been taken without the other members of the Board being consulted. I am resigning as a protest at the way things are being run."

Cuthbert Taylor is a man of colour, and the rules of the Board of Control state that only those born of white parents, and who are legally British subjects, may fight for national titles.

Among the stewards of the B.B.B.C. are Lord Lonsdale, Lord Tweedmouth, Colonel R. E. Myddleton and Sir Henry Curtis Bennett, K.C.

AMATEUR TOURNAMENT AT DERRY.

The third annual tournament at Derry, under the auspices of the R.U.C. Athletic Association, will be held at the Guildhall on Friday evening next. An exceptionally strong programme, consisting of nineteen contests at all weights has been arranged, and, with a few exceptions, all the competitors are title holders. Of the heavy-weight contests, the most noteworthy is that in which Garda Mulligan, the Irish champion, will meet Fireman Stuart, the British Empire champion. Fireman Shawyer (London) and Constable Magill figure in the "star" middle-weight bout, and a bout that should arouse considerable interest is the feather-weight, between Rifleman Whelan and Private Mooney, who met in the Irish trials in Dublin last week, when Whelan gained the verdict by a very narrow margin. F. Kerr, the Irish fly-weight champion, is due to meet B. A. Doyle (Dublin University), holder of the Leinster title, and this should prove a fast and thrilling contest.

WHY McGUIRE STOOD DOWN.

Mickey McGuire, Newcastle-on-Tyne, a fly-weight, who is a contender for the British title, refused to fulfil a contract to meet Boy Edge, of Birmingham, in a contest yesterday at Newcastle, and stated that his reason for doing so was because of the hard contest he had with Jim Campbell a week ago. He explained that he did not feel that he could do himself justice in the contest last night, but that if he had a few more days training he would be quite willing to meet Edge, and put up a side-stake.

A few weeks ago McGuire defeated Jackie Brown, the fly-weight champion of Europe, and anticipates a meeting with Brown for the British title.

MEEN TO FIGHT IN EGYPT.

Reggie Meen, of Leicester, the British heavy-weight champion, will sail for Egypt on April 15, having been matched to fight ten rounds with the champion of Egypt, Salar-Ed-Din, in Cairo on May 7. Before returning home the British title-holder may visit Italy.

Meen has never been outside his native country, and has not even fought in Scotland, Ireland or Wales.

CROSS-COUNTRY.

DORAN SHIELD RACE.

E. Galway and W. Ashe, who were first and second respectively in the race for the Doran Shield last year, again filled the first two places in the race on Saturday, but on this occasion Ashe succeeded in getting the better of the old-time long-distance cyclist. The distance of the race was six miles, and a field of seventeen contested the event. The first six home were:—

The Donore Harriers concluded their season on Saturday with a three miles consolation race for junior members. The race resulted in a very easy win for T. Miller. With three minutes' start, he got to the head of affairs in the first mile, and won by fifteen seconds from F. Kavanagh. Result:

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

FIVE NEW ENGLISH "CAPS."

MANY CHANGES ON THE SCOTTISH SIDE.

Drastic changes have been made by the English Selection Committee in picking the side to meet Scotland at Wembley Stadium on Saturday next. Five of the chosen players have never before appeared in International Championship matches. These are—Pearson, Shaw, O'Dowd, Weaver and Barclay. Johnson, although taking part in the game with Spain last December, has only one previous "cap"—secured in 1929, when he played against Wales.

HIBBS DROPPED.

The selectors have concentrated their choice upon the players who took part in the International Trial match at Huddersfield on March 16. Six members of the Rest eleven, who won by four goals to one, and five of the side representing England make up the team. Hibbs would probably have retained his place in goal but for injuries received in the trial. He turned out for his club on Saturday, but it would seem the selectors preferred to choose a man about whose fitness no doubt existed.

In putting Crooks and Barclay together to form the right wing, the selectors have paid regard to the fact that these men were in association in the Derby County team up to last season. Weaver, given his chance at left half, is strong in attack and defence, with a pronounced ability in the throw-in, while the coolness and skill of O'Dowd have brought the recognition deserved. England's team is a good blend of youth and experience.

MORTON'S RECORD.

As last season, England will be opposed by a side composed entirely of home Scots. Like England, Scotland have introduced five new players—Hamilton, Craig, Marshall, Dewar and Napier—while of the side doing duty in the last International match—against Wales in October—only Brown and Morton remain. Morton will be playing in his thirtieth International game for Scotland, and his eleventh against England. That means he will surpass the record of R. Walker, who made 29 appearances for Scotland.

Probably most surprise centres in the dropping of Meiklejohn and McPhail. Injury ruled out the chance of McGrory being selected to lead the forwards, and the position has been given to Dewar, one of the most consistent scorers in Scottish League football this season.

The teams are:

ENGLAND.

Goal—Pearson (West Bromwich Albion).
Backs—Shaw (West Bromwich Albion), Blenkinsop (Sheffield Wednesday) (captain).
Half-backs—Strange (Sheffield Wednesday), O'Dowd (Chelsea), Weaver (Newcastle United).
Forwards—Crooks (Derby County), Barclay (Sheffield United), Waring (Aston Villa), Johnson (Everton), Houghton (Aston Villa).
Reserves to travel—Stoker (Birmingham), and Sandford (West Bromwich Albion).

SCOTLAND.

Goal—Hamilton (Glasgow Rangers).
Backs—Crapnell (Airdrieonians), Nibloe (Kilmarnock).
Half-backs—McNab (Dundee), Craig (Motherwell), Brown (Glasgow Rangers).
Forwards—Archibald (Glasgow Rangers), Marshall (Glasgow Rangers), Dewar (Third Lanark), Napier (Glasgow Celtic), Morton (Glasgow Rangers).
Reserves to travel—Massie (Heart of Midlothian) and Stevenson Motherwell).
Referee—Mr. S. Thompson (Belfast).

PROPOSED RESUMPTION OF CONFERENCE.

TABLE TENNIS.

ACME ENTER FINAL OF SENIOR CUP.

The Irish Free State Cup competitions were advanced to their concluding stages at the Catholic Commercial Club last night, when the semi-final rounds in the intermediate and junior trophies were decided, in addition to one semi-final in the senior division.

In the latter section Acme "A" brought off a splendid win by defeating Y.M.C.A. by four matches to one. In all likelihood they will meet Excelsior in the final to-night, and if the entire side reach the form which they displayed last evening a very keen match should result.

B. C. Bhattacharyya (Y.M.C.A.) played well above his usual form last night, when he defeated C. A. Kemp in three games by 21-18, 14-21, 21-15. It was an excellent match, and the Indian's superb defence offset the Acme player's very penetrative attack. Details:—

SENIOR CUP—SEMI-FINAL.

Acme "A" 4, Y.M.C.A. 1. C. Kemp ("A") lost to Bhattacharyya (Y.M.C.A.)—21-18, 14-21, 21-15; H. McDougald ("A") beat A. F. Haris (Y.M.C.A.)—21-16, 21-18; J. McDoughald ("A") beat A. NO ROAD LICENCES.

CONFLICT OF EVIDENCE.

B. Fitzsimon, Churchtown, Dundrum, was fined in the sum of 29s. 6d. at Shankill District Court yesterday by Justice Reddin for using a motor car for which the road tax had not been paid, and on which there was neither front nor rear light, on March 20th at Shankill.

Evidence was given by Guard Murphy and Joseph Dalton that the car bearing the registered number Z 1041 passed over Shankill Bridge at 11 p.m. on March 20th without a light of any kind. When inquiries were made at the registration office it was found that the road tax had not been paid since December 31st.

The defendant, Mr. Fitzsimon, and his wife, Mrs. Fitzsimon, denied that the car had been out of the garage since the 31st of December.

Mr. Collins, solicitor, defended.

William Wallis, Kenilworth square, Rathgar was fined 30s. for using a car, the road licence of which had not been paid.

Defendant said that the car was being tested when the Guard pulled it up.

Guard Murphy said that he caught the defendant driving the car on two occasions.

Mr. Reddin—The car seemed to have wakened up at week-ends and on public holidays.

Mr. Emanuel's Horses.

Owing to the death of Mr. Victor Emanuel's father, Mr. Albert Emanuel, none of the former's horses will run for a few days. Horses of his nominated for engagements this week include Totaig in the Lingfield Spring Stakes on Wednesday, Urgency in the Four Elms Maiden Plate at Lingfield on Thursday, and Nosiamas in the Wilts Plate at Newbury on Saturday.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

BRIGHTER OUTLOOK FOR MOTOR INDUSTRY: STOCKS CLOSE IRREGULAR.

(Reuter's Telegrams.)

NEW YORK, Monday.

The Stock Exchange opened steady. There was little in the week-end news to influence the market and brokerage house advices generally are pessimistic. Some quarters, however, anticipate at least a short-lived technical rally, while others expect to see stability at round about the current levels.

With the Federal taxation plans continuing to cast a shadow over the sentiment of the market, prices were further whittled down in the subsequent quiet trading, in which the renewed weakness of Railroad issues was again a very unsettling factor.

Later in the session the market sank into new low ground, a long list of stocks falling 1 to 4 points. Utility and Railroad issues once more became conspicuously weak, with unsettling factors being constituted in sharp declines on the Bond market and a slump in the price of Stock Exchange seats to 87,000 dollars, compared with 155,000 dollars in March.

Wall street derived some cheer from predictions of a fair pick-up in automobile demand during April, which should immediately affect the steel and its related industries.

The leading investment advisory services continue to caution buyers of securities to keep their funds liquid pending the clarification of the situation in regard to Federal taxation. On the other hand, some observers feel that a convincing sign of improvement in business might bring about a marked change in sentiment and draw attention to the importance of an improvement in the banking situation.

Short covering in the final dealings either reduced or eliminated entirely the earlier losses. The market closed irregular

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Monday.

The weakness of the Stock market had an adverse effect on grains to-day. Recessions occurred owing to scattered liquidation, but prices later rallied on short covering, together with increasing foreign interest. Stop-loss and general buying further assisted the upward movement, but near the close a partial set-back occurred owing to renewed profit-taking. The early losses in wheat were due to liquidation of the May option and profit-taking, but prices later rallied on reports of dry conditions in the South-West, coupled with a bullish forecast for that area. Buying by South-Western houses, increasing complaints from the West and South-West districts regarding the crops, and liberal purchases of the July option by professionals, constituted other helpful factors. News of a poor outlook for the crops was the predominating feature, while the rise was further assisted by a reported decrease in the visible supply. Maize declined owing to scattered selling, but business generally was without any important feature. There were no signs of improvement in shipping interest, but prices subsequently rallied in unison with wheat. Rye prices advanced on a fair export business and owing to a lack of pressure. Trading in oats was light, prices moving in sympathy with the fluctuations in maize.

DWARF NASTURTIUMS—

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says: And Mignonette. Both, of course, are indispensable, but come not within our category for immediate sowing, for which we bide our time until May is well advanced; and to get the best out of the Tropæolums (Nasturtiums) the better you treat them the worse they treat you so far as flowers are concerned. Starvation in poorest of the poor, hard soil, resulting in a wealth of blossom; otherwise lashin's o' greenery and no gaiety. We find that Mignonette pays for a well-filled bed to itself, enjoying some old mortar rubble in the soil, and now to-day we get what old gardeners missed in superb spikes of the giant varieties in rich yellow, white and crimson; but whether we get as much sniffing virtue is open to question.

HARDENING OFF.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:

The chickens hatched out during January and February will all likely be out of the brooders this month. Many breeders transfer their chickens to cold brooders in six weeks, but it is safe during cold weather to wait some weeks longer. We usually leave chickens with a hen at least two months at this time of the year, and we think it is sometimes necessary to leave them in the artificial rearer another week. Of course, the sooner they are hardened off the better, as too much delay often tends to weaken the chicks. At whatever age the change is made, there should not be too sudden reduction of heat. The heat of the brooder should be gradually reduced for a few days, and the birds then placed in a small colony house, where an oil stove can warm the air for a few days longer.
